Positions on this team are earned according to the four weeks bowling on the qualifying score board. Our singles representatives are Bantam Boy, Robby Clements (average 164, pinfall 1146); Bantam Girl-Kim Philp (average 136, pinfall 1170); Junior Boy, Ricky Clements (average 187, pinfall 147); Junior Girl-Joanne Valchar (average 159, pinfall 1381); Senior Boy-Paul Jones (average 187, pinfall 1510); Senior Girl-Susan Wright (average 214, pinfall 1632).

There were 12 tables of Senior Citizens struggling through eight rounds of progressive euchre last Thursday. Every game was a battle and there were no casualties.

Helen Reid and Fred Heasman were top winners and Jessie Johnson and Ed Broadworth tied for second. The other 44 of us had a lot of fun getting trimmed.

Welcome visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Art Osterhout of Frankford club and Margaret Green of the village. A nice lunch was supplied by Freda Broadworth, Gertrude Belshaw, Bernice Rollins and Ern Munro, with Margaret Green helping to serve. Fred Heasman, president, thanked John Holmes for donating three decks of cards, George McMullen, Murn Stapley and dis ole Scribe hope that some of the 9s and 10s are missing. Miss Eastern Ontario Pageant

Contestant Chairman Murray Stone of the Miss Eastern Ontario Beauty Pageant at Perth reported this week that the earliest contestant entries on record have been received. Last year had surpassed previous years, but 1972 seems destined to outdo even that, as 13 entries had been received by January 12. The earliest confirmed entry in '71 was January 25th.

Navan Lions Club was the first entry this year followed by Richmond, Cornwall, Kars, Brockville and Ingersoll in that order. The entry total has been set at 40 maximum, and therefore 1/3 of this has been reached with two and one half months to go. Contest planning entry is urged to move quickly as entry is on a first come basis. Anyone wishing information can contact Mr. Stone, Box 97, Perth.

The 1972 Pageant is being held on two days for the first time in its history -- Friday and Saturday, March 24 and 25. The expansion was undertaken in order to incorporate interviews into the contestant judging. Contestants are judged also in street dress, swim suit, and evening gown. There will be 2 evening programs this year and no Saturday afternoon program. It is expected there will be several innovations this year in the overall format. A fashion commentary will be added to the Friday evening program, and a civic reception may be held on Friday afternoon at Perth's newly refurbished Town Hall. A civic dinner is being planned for Saturday noon.

If Joe Groundhog pokes his snout through the top of his winter snoozing spot today and sees his shadow, some legend says we will have another six weeks of winter. If he doesn't see his likeness, milder weather is supposed to follow.

Mill St. restaurant changes hands

John's Restaurant, Mill Street, has changed hands for the third time in about three years, as the result of a sale announced this week by John Gallos.

Two men from Belleville, George Syntetos and John Koutsomitis, have purchased the business known as John's Restaurant, and will re-name it J & G Restaurant.

The new owners both come from Belleville. John plans to move here in the near future after he is married. George owns a home in the city, so his plans are not sure yet.

John Gallos has no immediate plans. He wants to stay in business, but where or what type he is not sure. Gallos purchased the restaurant from John Georgiou of Trenton last April, and he in turn had bought it from Glenn Whitehead about two years earlier.

The regular meeting of Spring Brook United Church Women was held on Thursday, Jan. 6, in the church basement with a fair attendance.

Mrs. M. Bateman, president, welcomed the ladies and wished everyone a happy new year. She then read a poem "What's Then?"

Mrs. Ralph Wellman conducted the worship service with the theme "Preparing for a New Year." Those taking part were Mrs. P. Mumby; Mrs. J. Thompson; Mrs. G. Thompson and Mrs. G. Broadworth. An impressive candlelighting service highlighted the installation of the various committee chairmen.

Mrs. H. Haslett reported 27 cards sent to sick and shut-ins, also treats taken to shut-ins for Christmas.

Delegates were chosen for the annual U.C.W.'s meeting to be held this week at King St. United Church in Trenton.

The ladies decided to hold a pot luck dinner in the church basement during the first week of February.

The program, "Philosophy for a New Year", was presented by Mrs. B. McKewen, assisted by Mrs. G. Broadworth, Mrs. W. Cox, Mrs. M. Mason and Mrs. G. McFaul. Mrs. McKewen conducted the program with a new song, "Glory Hallelujah, Teach and Learn is All We Know," everyone joined in for a pleasant sing-along.

Mrs. Bateman thanked the hostesses, Mrs. R. Wellman and Mrs. B. McKewen, then closed the meeting with prayer, after which a social period was spent over tea and cookies.

The worm has turned?

As any sensible person might have predicted, the advertising techniques which have been employed by many of television's sponsors and advertising agencies are at last beginning to pull upon even the most ardent devotee of the tube. In the pre-Christmas rush for Yuletide dollars a new mass hypnosis method was thrust upon the viewing public. The same commercial for the same product would be repeated time after time in the same evening. Apparently the plan was to somehow brainwash the viewer into forgetting that any but that particular product was available to the shopping public.

It is quite probable that the mass hypnosis technique did, in fact, sell merchandise. The planners of advertising campaigns for television are committed to getting results for the millions of dollars of their clients' money which they expend. It was interesting however, during the past couple of weeks to note that General Foods is taking an entirely different approach. On Sunday evenings they have been sponsoring the fascinating historical series "Elizabeth R", fascinating, that is, to the people who are interested in history.

It is quite probable that they would have a larger viewing audience if they sponsored a hockey game or even a few bogus wrestling bouts, but as the GF commercials (limited to only two during the hour and a half screening of "Elizabeth R") point out, they have given up their pursuit of the mass audience, in favor of a smaller and perhaps more perceptive group of viewers who can be impressed by their sincere effort to provide quality products at fair prices.

A lot of nasty things have been said in recent years about advertising in general, and much of the unfavorable comment has been generated by the indiscriminate use of TV brain washing techniques.

The prime purpose of advertising, and the only reason it is of value to our society, is to provide truthful information about goods and services available to the public. When it departs from the role of public assistance and enters the field of hypnosis it is headed for public rejection.

Some television advertising does fill a valid role by providing useful information - but a large percentage of it does not. Newspaper advertising, because of the very nature of its medium, is simply not able to inject the monotonous, hypnotic approach. It must rely almost entirely on solid, factual information as the basis of its saleability.

Television advertising is with us to stay, but it certainly faces a monumental task of image re-building.

The County Agricultural Committee, in charge of the Complimentary Banquet for Mr. H. L. Fair, Monday evening, February 3rd, at the Community Hall, Stirling, regret very much that the seating accommodation at the dinner is limited. Since Col. The Hon. T. L. Kennedy is the guest speaker, arrangements have been made for the use of the Stirling Theatre so that the public may hear the Minister of Agriculture and witness the presentation after the banquet.

Theatre doors will open at 8:45 p.m. The public are cordially invited to hear Col. Kennedy.

A howling blizzard swept this district last night and early this morning with the result that many of the side roads as well as the Highway to Belleville are blocked to motor traffic. The provincial snowplow is hung up for repairs and once again district motorists are forced to wait until such time as the Department of Highways sends a plow in from some other district to open up the roads. It seems that every time this district has a heavy fall of snow the provincial plow is broken down and it would appear that it is high time the Department brought some new equipment for use on the district highways.

Rev. A. Allan J. Terrill, 73, of Colborne, died in the Kingston General Hospital Monday evening, as a result of injuries received when struck by a truck on Princess St., Kingston last Friday evening.

H. R. Tompkins was re-elected chairman of the Stirling Board of Education for a second term at the organization meeting held at the High School on Monday night. Mr. C. L. Hutton was also re-elected vice-chairman, and R. W. Meiklejohn was reappointed secretary-treasurer, at a salary of $300, an increase of $50.

At the present time there is a mild epidemic of Scarlet Fever in Stirling and the surrounding community but increase in severity of the disease may be expected if it is not curbed at once.

The Board of Health of the village is asking the cooperation of the public in the prevention of the possible spreading of the disease. Everyone is asked to pay particular attention to the treatment of colds and sore throats so prevalent at this time of the year. Do not neglect the investigation of every skin rash no matter how trivial it may seem. At the first suggestion of a sore throat, cold or earache consult your family physician. In this way, with the cooperation of everyone, the spread of this disease can be prevented.

Stirling Hockey Club challenged the Madoc Club to play on Belleville Rink, but the latter would not accept, and made counter proposition, favorable to themselves. They will likely be challenged again through one of the Toronto papers.

A large congregation was present at the West Huntingdon Presbyterian Church on Sunday to witness the ordination into the eldership of Messrs. Hulsie Rolins and Geo. Post. The new elders were chosen by the members, and the office, unlike any other in the Presbyterian Church, is held for life.

A little excitement was created on Tuesday afternoon by a small blaze at the residence of Mr. Jas. Boldrick. Some frozen pipes in the cellar were being thawed out, and the joists above them took fire. The blaze was soon extinguished, and but little damage done beyond that caused by the dense smoke.

Thirty-five per cent, of the students attending the Kingston Dairy School this winter are from Hastings County, which is a pretty good indication that the reputation this county has for producing good cheese will be maintained, as the majority of these enterprising young men are likely to be at their old posts again next season.

The annual congregational meeting of the West Huntingdon Presbyterian Church was held on Monday night, the attendance being the largest for some years. Matters of interest were freely and amicably discussed by the members, and plans laid for the year's work. Mr. Henry Wal-lace was elected Chairman of the Board of Managers, and Mr. Robt. Roy was unanimously re-elected Treasurer. Mr. Jas. Haggerty, Jr., was selected as Secretary, and Mr. Haggerty and Mr. David Fleming, Jr., were appointed a committee to take charge of the schemes of the church.

Dear Sir:

The Medical Officer of Health's Office informs that because of the recent changes in The International Regulations with regards to Smallpox Vaccination of travellers, a certain amount of mis-information and mis-understanding has been experienced by the Public.

While the Vaccination is no longer necessary for travellers to most countries of the world, it is well to remember that such situation may not be permanent and the most recent information must be sought from the Consulates of the Countries of destination either directly or through Travelling Agencies. Information from such sources is the only completely reliable one and while this Office will be giving all the necessary immunizations as in the past, we cannot be responsible for up to date knowledge of changing health regulations in the various countries of the world.

Trudeau plays musical chairs

BY LYNN JONES

Political events over weekend make one wonder just what happens, at times, in the thinking of the Prime Minister. Although all the comments made about the cabinet shuffle so far have not really meant anything, the timing of the shuffle itself is what seems to be rather foolish.

The most obvious mistake, it seems on the surface, is to change the Minister of Finance, just two days before he is supposed to meet with the provincial ministers. It was noted that perhaps this conference could be postponed to give John Turner a chance to become a little familiar with his new portfolio, before being tossed to the ravens of provincial purse keepers.

What would have made more sense was to have delayed the announcement of the changes until after the conference. From all he has done so far, we cannot see how a week would have affected the PM's schedule.

We can also sympathize with the provincial chaps. They have had plans laid for some time for this meeting, and it would hardly be fair at the 11th hour to ask them to wait. We doubt the cabinet shuffle was arrived at Friday morning, so it would have made more sense from both sides to wait no more than a week to make the switch.

The second thing that makes me wonder, why switch at all? All the pundits have so far said in effect, that the change is to preface an election announcement. This is likely true, but what good it does to have basically the same crew doing different tasks makes little sense. Had Mr. Trudeau brought in several new faces and removed several old, one could really anticipate some action. When the only departure was Joe Greene, who had wanted out for some time due to illness, it hardly seems anything more than a game of musical chairs.

Finally there is the matter of accomplishments. Whether the average taxpayer likes it or not, the legislation recently shoved through by Edgar Benson (tax reform) and John Turner (bail reform) and other police work changes) probably will be for the better. We would rather have seen the men who pushed the unwelcome material through stay and face the music as it becomes practical. We well realize that it will be the deputy ministers and vast army of civil servants who will actually make it work, not the high paid minister. It would be nice to see the author of these controversial bills around long enough to reap the rewards or accept the brickbats that will come along.

Here again, we suffer in many respects compared to the American system. The comment by one local MP during the weekend, we believe, sums it up. He was asked whether he thought Edgar Benson was qualified to take on the defence ministry. His answer was that Benson was no better or worse qualified than Donald MacDonald when he assumed it. The point here is that Canadian cabinet ministers generally do not have background for most of the positions they fill. There has been complaint that there was not a veteran filling the department of veterans' affairs post, as an example. Most of our MPs come from legal backgrounds, which is fine, but it seems that there should be better ways of having qualified men in charge of departments. The American system is to try and select men from backgrounds where they will be serving. They of course are appointed, not elected, which does allow picking the more useful choices. Choosing and keeping cabinets is not an easy task for any PM. It was noted Turner only took Finance after long negotiations, as this post seems to be considered a graveyard for potential leaders. Is Mr. Trudeau afraid of being ousted? I feel the cabinet of last Thursday should have stood its ground and faced the electorate on its record, instead of trying to pick up some one else's loose ends as they move into the coming fray.

CARDS OF THANKS
Can we but say thank you
For the kindnesses to us
At the passing of our mother,
Who meant so much to us.
The flowers were so beautiful,
To her they'd mean so much,
For always, in her garden,
She gave them her loving touch.
The cards expressed, so nicely,
The thoughts, to us, you sent,
If helps to heal the injured hearts
Just when a life is spent.
To the staff of Edward Street
Manor,
We can't say thanks enough
For the many, many comforts
To smooth out, for her, the rough.
The other folk at the Manor, too,
Helped make her feel so good
With a little wave, a "Hi Granny,"
Or in any way they could.
Thank you to Mr. Hogle
Who, in his competent way,
Helped so, to lift the burdens
Of those very saddened days.
To Beatrice Edwards MacDonald
A very special thanks,
'Tis the comforting message, at this time,
On which a family banks.
Our utmost thanks to the ladies
For the luncheon at the close of that day.
It brought the family all back together
In such a pleasant way.
The family of the late
E. Capitola Stapley. 5-1

Thank you to relatives and friends who remembered me with flowers, cards and calls during my stay in hospital and since returning home. To Doctors and Nurses of Belleville General and especially Drs. Matheson and Briggs for their kindness shown me. To all a heartfelt thanks. 5-1 Deanna Fleming

NOTICE
Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ewing, Oak Lake, who are holidaying in Mexico, sent the following letter to relatives at home recently. The contents give an insight into life in that country. Oaxaca, Oaxaca, Mexico.

Dear Friends:
Here we are in this beautiful city that is so rich in Mexican or I should say Indian culture and historical sites. The climate is ideal, there is a large and colorful market, held seven days a week. The Indians are dressed in their costumes and the place is a riot of color and smells. They are very pleasant and trustworthy.

We arrived here on the afternoon of the 20th and will be leaving here on the morning of the 27th for Guatemala, about two days drive from here. We have filled our days with visiting the ruins, the market and old ruins that are located in this area dating back to 1000 B.C. We use the local buses, the fare into the centro is 40 centavos, less than 4 cents.

We are in fine health, we eat very well, much too well because we are both gaining weight fast. We are leaving after writing this to visit the Zocalo where the festival of the radishes takes place. It is a big event and all will turn out for this fun filled festival where the main attraction is the judging of radishes which play a large part in their lives. A very generous prize or prizes are given for the various types, unusual shapes, carvings, etc., music, fireworks, parades are all included and the radishes are eaten in great quantity. After all this the people and their way home, some staggering and most all burping accompanied with much laughter as one another of the more vulgar ones try to outdo each other in a burping contest. We have been informed of all this by a very nice lady from California who left Quebec and worked for George Hees who had her translate his catalogue of birds, etc. into French. When doing this project, a one year job, she lived in Toronto. She left there for California where she teaches. Her daughter is fed up with California and is returning to Toronto as an interior decorator. She teaches English to Mexican students while here.

The pottery in the market is most reasonably priced. This is the region of the black pottery. Fine blankets of wool and rebogan etc. are to be had at bargain prices. Food is cheap and plentiful here. There is something going on at all times to interest the most jaded tourist.

To begin with the radishes are displayed in front of the city hall and each area in the state of Oaxaca is represented. In fact just about all are represented. The displays are in separate booths, and are fixed up to represent an event that took place in the year 1971 such as the moon-walk or some other well known event. The radishes that are the most natural in shape and size to depict the event and snakes are very good, and it's not hard to get the message, football heroes, political figures, movie scenes, etc. The radishes are very large and take on weird, but human like figures that can be cast in the roll of astronaut or football player, etc. Some have dresses or skirts made of lettuce leaves, or a red pepper for a nose. The whole show is very delightful and much laughter is evoked as most everyone decorates the radishes with some other humorous scene.

This all takes place in the zocalo or public square and believe me, the entire population of the state of Oaxaca, the heads of church, state and city attend. There is continuous fireworks, harmless ones that make a hissing noise and snakes through the streets at your feet, these cause a great deal of squealing from the senoritas, some jumping, and some screaming, old, young, most all in makeshift uniform or none at all and an odd assortment of instruments from early days, battered and beat but still able to make a noise. Tons and tons of food in the sidewalk booths of all kinds, smells and colors. It is just fantastic.

Life in Mexico
Dancing by the folkloric dancers, some in magnificent costumes, the climax of all this is the winners' of the contest on parade and a real earth rattling, sky blazing display of fireworks that goes off to signal the end of public display and participation. There is not an unhappy one to be seen as all wind their way home accompanied by loud and continuous belching which of course brings out roars of laughter and one just can't help but join in because laughter is most contagious. One may hear the belching of an individual from a distance and then the roar of a well executed. The roar of a bull or lion, the braying of asses and so on all are well done by some very nice people who under ordinary circumstances wouldn't dare be so vulgar, but on the night of the festival of radishes just throw caution to the wind and let it rip.

UCO FOXBORO BR. 962-9101

WEEKLY REPORT FROM FOXBORO DISTRICT (BY JACK WOOD)

Worms do considerable harm to a beef feeder or dairyman's enterprise. Probably much more than anyone fully realizes. We know that well over 50% of herds surveyed are infected by one of several kinds of worms.

The most common worms are lung worms and stomach worms, and each affects different parts of your animal's system. The lung worm creates blockage of air passages, and you'll see symptoms of coughing and emphysema. If the infection is heavy enough, your apt to see some mortality result.

The stomach worms affect digestion. Some of the worms burrow into delicate stomach or intestinal tissues, which of course, cuts down on digestive efficiency. It affects the animal's ability to convert feed into meat, or milk.

Some of these stomach worms drain off blood, which in heavy infections could mean as much as 1/2 pint of blood loss per day. Loss of appetite, dehydration, sometimes swelling under the jaw, persistent diarrhea are various symptoms of stomach worms or intestinal worms.

A major challenge facing the careful herd manager is to detect the presence of worms, before they get so bad that the clear cut symptoms develop. Slight infections are not detectable. But it is safe to assume that because so many animals are infected, the pastures and barn yards used by the cattle will be heavily infested with eggs and larvae. It is also wise to assume that routine worming is the best management decision.

Some feeders, in the past, used to think that stomach worms could be "flushed out" of the cattle by feeding extra rations. But all this does is "feed" the worms and "flush" your profits into the gutter.

Use of a broad spectrum wormer, that won't stress cattle, or knock them off their feed, is an excellent approach.

Briefly, worm new feeders (according to manufacturers' directions) when the feeders arrive on the farm. Worm cattle, spring and fall, including dairy calves and heifers unless they are within a month of slaughter time. Worm milkers when they are dry.

Thiabendazole (Thiabendazole) and Tiamol are two such wormers that you co-op fieldmen can help you use to good advantage.

Prizes were Mens 1st, Alfred Aiken; 2nd, Vernon Hearn and low, Thomas Grills.
Ladies 1st, Shirley Grills; 2nd, Hilda Hearn and low, Linda Grills. Special prize was won by Della Carlisle.

DIGGING OUT WAS THE ORDER OF THE DAY AFTER LAST WEEK'S SNOW STORM

Minister praises local community school programs

Hon. Robert Welch, Minister of Education, while addressing the Ontario Secondary School Teachers Federation District 19 Annual Dinner Meeting, February 1, said that Hastings County was one of the leaders in the province in the development of the community use of schools concept. "You should put yourselves on the back for the effort you are making in this area," he said. He said that there is a select committee of the legislature looking into the community use of schools concept.

"The committee was asked to explore the increased use of educational facilities throughout Ontario, with regard to such matters as: (1) the wider community use of its educational facilities, (2) the year-round use of such facilities for educational and/or community programs and (3) ways and means to achieve the above."

Mr. Welch suggested that programs of these type should be implemented as soon as possible. While there are problems as to budgets, salaries, personnel, etc., he says that they can be overcome.

"This will require the cooperation of school personnel, municipal officers, and private citizens - irrespective of age, backgrounds or interest - can be effectively met. And for the schools involved there will be many opportunities to create and co-ordinate learning programs that will satisfy the expressed needs of individuals within the community, at a time when these individuals are available and ready for such experiences," he said.

Mr. Welch also announced that a five-week course in Community School Development is being run in Toronto this summer by the Department of Education.

Supper guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Floud last Wednesday night were Mrs. William Ross and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morrow.

Senior Citizens brave elements

The Senior Citizens met on Thursday, just one day after Ground Hog Day. What a lovely day Thursday was??? I guess the ground hog knew what he was doing when he saw his shadow and went back to sleep for another six weeks, on Feb. 2. By doing so he missed a heck of a stormy day. It snowed, rained and cars were stuck all over the place. Well, we were in our club room, nice and warm enjoying a big time.

The winners at euchre was a family affair, John and Kathleen Ryan had top scores. The farthest from the top were Luella Bronson and Hub Faulkner.

Our only pure bred Scotsman (John Kane) was celebrating a birthday and to top it off, Evelyn Farrell presented him with a lovely cake. It also leaked out that Kathleen Ryan always celebrates Feb. 2 for that was the day she appeared in this world. The birthday song was sung in a variety of keys, but we all meant it.

A group of ladies from Spring Brook district wonder if they would be welcome to visit us some time. The president says "Well, come right along girls, our club is for Stirling and Community, so you see you are really a part of us. Just let President Fred Heasman know a bit ahead and come. We've always got room for more."

A tasty lunch was prepared and served by Luella Bronson, Mabel Brooks and Bessie Patterson. Thought for the day - Keep your temper, nobody else wants it.

Presbyterian women's group holds meeting

Mrs. R. Taylor was hostess for the Feb. meeting of Presbyterian Women. The president, Mrs. K. Tompkins, opened with a poem, "A Message for You," followed by prayer. She welcomed everyone and thanked Mrs. Taylor for opening her home.

Mrs. Don Farney opened the worship service with a prayer from the Glad Tidings by Miss Dorothy Bulmer, one of our missionaries in Nigeria. The scripture reading from 1st Cor., Chapter 10 was taken by Mrs. B. Cook who pointed out in her meditation that Love of God is the Rock on which we build our faith and from the depths of our faith we show our love for our fellow man. On Christ the solid Rock I stand, was sung, Mrs. Farney told how the singing of Rock of Ages gave many people in a shipwreck the added strength to hang on until rescue came. Mrs. Matthews played Rock of Ages. The devotional period closed with the singing of hymn 523.

The offering was gathered by Mrs. Farney and dedicated by Mrs. Tompkins. The Roll Call was answered by 20 ladies and one visitor. After the minutes, the correspondence was read, which included an invitation from the ladies of St. Andrew's, Belleville, to attend their Valentine meeting on Feb. 8, at 2 p.m., and a letter from Armagh.

Mrs. K. Tompkins was appointed.

The huge animals wade into the marsh, often shoulder deep, to feast on this delicacy. In the process of feeding, the bull's great antlers become festooned with yards of water lily roots and stalks, pulled up from the bottom.

spoken in Africa although many of the new nations use either French or English as their official language. The Bible translators have many problems and their goal is to give every man a Bible in his own tongue.

The shared experiences of oppression have created a strong feeling of unity and kinship among the Africans and the achieving of independence has been a unifying factor because it provided a common experience of achievement and success.

The birth of a new nation in Africa has brought into being a new generation with new aspirations, new goals and a new outlook. There are many phases of their life that can stand improvement. Our contributions help towards these improvements.

The skit concluded with Mrs. McGee wishing that her dollar would buy as much here as it does there. Here, it wouldn't buy one pillow case but will buy a whole blanket in Africa.

The study was concluded with a poem, "African Girl", which told of her struggle for bread and how she obtained it.

A Scrap Book of Africa is to be made and all members are asked to bring clippings for the book.

Excellent Response

It was gratifying to see the response by Stirling and district residents to the invitation to take night school classes.

In an age when Canadians generally are sometimes accused of being passive, if not outright lazy, it is good to know that in one community, at least, there are those who want to spend part of their leisure time improving their knowledge.

Granted, the courses offered perhaps are not what could be considered academic. Still, there is something to be gained from pursuing excellence in almost any field of endeavor.

Stirling is fortunate to be able to take advantage of courses offered by Loyola College. No doubt, in the future, this modern "community" college will have an even larger role to play in the educational development of the Quinte area.

It must be remembered, however, that all the groundwork for the use of local schools during non-class time was done by the Stirling Community School Association, in co-operation with the Hastings County board of education. So, to give credit where credit is due, we again commend the local association for the fine job it, along with Principal George Patton, has done in making facilities available to the general public.

We cannot overemphasize the fact that schools were built out of tax dollars. It, therefore, follows that these expensive buildings should be available to the people who foot the bill, at times when there is no conflict with regular classes.

A Good Job

Last week's big snow storm served to remind us once again of the importance of the role Nature plays in our lives.

All winter long, the weather pundits have deluged anyone who would listen, with their predictions of an open winter. Then came Thursday's snow followed by Friday's wind.

Our feeling here is that it never is wise to go out on a limb when on the subject of winter weather, at least until after the end of February. Even then, it could be risky, for all of us can remember a year there was a two-foot snowfall in March or even April. Others will recall a snowfall in June, July or August.

What we wanted to say, however, is a word of thanks to those who helped dig us out after last week's storm. Although they might have started a little earlier on Thursday, village crews worked tirelessly to open streets and remove untold tons of snow in the downtown district on Friday so that anyone lucky enough to be driving could find a place to park while shopping.

Once again, our thanks for a job well done.

A Weekly Meditation

BY REV. CHARLES STAPLES
St. John's Anglican Church

Many of our Churches have recently held their annual congregational meeting, at which they do the "business" of the Church. If I'm not mistaken, most of the reports will show that the Church is healthy financially but that there are fewer people responsible for the good showing. This situation can be variously interpreted to mean (1) that the Church is decreasing and therefore will eventually fail; or (2) that the Church is in slight competition with other organizations and activities and is coming out second best.

Neither of these two comments adequately express the situation but what is happening to people and their participation in the Church is alarming when it is remembered how much money, time, and interest, people now give to sports activity and recreation. We are now living in a time when it seems necessary to own a snowmobile, a boat and motor, a camper or a trailer, plus the accessories that go with them. Our recreation, which has become essential to 20th century living, is largely physical recreation.

There seems to be a suggestion that if you keep the body physically fit, you will have solved all your problems. However if this is the only criticism the Church can make on the present situation, surely the Church, "has eaten sour grapes and its children's teeth are set on edge."

There does not have to be a competition between sports activity and Church going, between religion on the one hand and a fraternal organization on the other hand, its all a matter of deciding that both are important and doing both. The biggest obstacle to Christian belief is not some unresolvable theological issue but our timidity and indecisiveness. If a person is not a Church going Christian, it is generally not because religious questions remain unanswered, but because he cannot make up his mind to follow Jesus Christ. J. H. Oldham in his book, "Life is Commitment" said, "there are some things in life, and they may be the most important things, that we cannot know by research or reflection, but only by committing ourselves. We must dare in order to know. Life is full of situations to which I can respond not with part of myself, but only with the commitment of my whole being." If people are absent from Church let us not give them the easy excuse that they were away because they were enjoying some sport more than Church. But rather let us commit ourselves to a commitment of their whole being to Jesus Christ.

Keeping it clean

with Bill Dodds

What it's all about. A western Ontario college student wrote the Department of the Environment the other day raving about the wonderful pollution study and control system they have in Japan.

He wanted to know when Ontario was going to do something about pollution. He thought we should follow Japan's lead.

We thought you knew. That's what the Department of the Environment is all about. We run Ontario's pollution control system and it's probably the best in the world. At least that's what all the touring government people from the United States, Europe, and Asia keep telling us. Pollution, conservation, noise, waste... these are the things that worry us.

We're working on them. We take our orders from George Kerr, the Minister of the Environment in Premier William Davis's government.

Our Air Management Branch tracks down funny smells in the air -- and some things you can't smell -- and gets rid of them if they are dangerous. They even do things about the harmless odors that just make breathing disagreeable.

As far as we know, air pollution hasn't killed or injured anyone in Ontario. And we are making sure that it never does. It's happened in other places -- London, Tokyo and New York -- and we're not going to let it happen here. The Environmental Protection Act gives us the authority to see that it doesn't.

Our Waste Management Branch worries about garbage -- industrial wastes, farm waste, radioactive waste, sewage sludge and the cans you put out for the garbage collector every week. Did you know the average person in Ontario's cities and towns throws away half a ton of garbage a year?

If we don't do something, we'll be up to our ears in the stuff. That's what waste management is all about. The Branch controls how waste is carried away and disposed of. The Branch sets the standards, with Provincial legislation to back them up -- and the operators of disposal systems follow the rules or else.

The Conservation Authorities Branch gives advice, money and know-how to local groups interested in keeping green places with trees and clean, clear water for us and our children. We're helping 37 local groups who run Conservation Authorities in their watersheds and we are always ready to help a new authority get started.

The Ontario Water Resources Commission, also a part of the Department of the Environment, does the same thing for our rivers.

vers and lakes that the Air Management people do for our Air. And they too have the legal muscle to keep things clean.

You Don't Inherit Bad Teeth

Bad teeth don't run in the family — but bad diets and bad oral health habits do.

That's the conclusion of a University of Toronto biochemist and dental professor, Dr. Ralph Burgess.

"There are genetically oriented hereditary ailments which can affect the tooth enamel and dentine, but their effect on the population is minuscule," Dr. Burgess said.

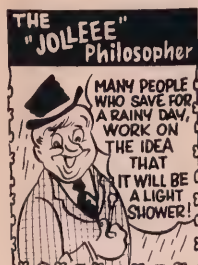

He made the comment in connection with observance of Dental Health Week, which the Ontario Dental Association is marking Feb. 6-12.

"All evidence shows that diet is a far more important factor in the cause of dental caries," Dr. Burgess said. "Anyone who thinks there is no point in looking after their teeth because bad teeth seem to run in their family is kidding themselves," he added.

Dr. Burgess said that less than one per cent of the population suffers from soft teeth caused by inherited genetic factors. In those few cases the teeth are less able to defend themselves

Caring For Mother

Dear Margaret Brookfield:
My mother, who's 62, recently suffered a stroke and the doctor says there's also been some brain damage. Since there's just my self and my husband, I've asked her to come and stay with us until she's feeling better. The trouble is my mother needs constant attention and cannot be left alone because she sometimes gets mixed up about things. She becomes very forgetful and does curious things like putting the silverware away with my husband's handkerchiefs. She also loses her balance and is often in danger of falling. So you can see she's not too easy to manage.
I've asked my older sister and brother, who live nearby, to give me a hand with her so I can have a little bit of time for myself, but they've flatly refused.
They say I had no business trying to take it all on myself in the first place. And they also say she'd be much better off in a convalescent home. I think they're being absolutely heartless. I'm so angry at the way they're treating our mother. I've refused to speak to them altogether. Don't you think I'm right and they're wrong?

M.S.

Dear M.S.:

You're right, but they might be right, too. You probably feel that your mother always took care of you and you want to reciprocate by caring for her when she seems to need it most. But they could have a point in recognizing that her problems might require more than home care, that they might possibly require round-the-clock supervision by specially trained people. Of course, no one likes to turn over someone close to the care of strangers, but perhaps you'll find it helpful to reconsider what might be best for your mother and yourself in the long run.

Planning for Retirement

Dear Margaret Brookfield:
My husband will be retiring in two years and doesn't even want to talk about it. All he says is that he's looking forward to fishing, golfing and just loafing. However, I feel we should start planning now, so we'll have some idea of what to do with ourselves when the time for his retirement comes. I wish I knew how to go about making such plans. I'd appreciate any advice you might have.

C.T.

Dear C.T.:

If a man has had meaningful work all his life, recreational activities in retirement such as golf or fishing won't easily take its place. And you're right about planning ahead; it's still the best approach. People should investigate before they retire whether they might continue their occupations on a part-time basis or prepare for an entirely new career. Or they might learn a new skill or develop a new interest they could cultivate more fully in retirement. Then there's the Parents of blind need counselling

The greatest service to the 1,691 blind children under the age of 15, in Canada, is continued counselling of parents.

At a recent conference at The Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Toronto, 28 social service workers, representing CNIB offices throughout Canada, agreed that blind children need understanding and encouragement from their parents. "This is where the social service worker comes in," said Miss Louise Cowan, chairman of the four-day conference and Director, National Social Services, CNIB.

"Parents in turn need support and counsel in helping their blind child adjust to his lack of sight," she said. "It is up to the social service worker to point out what is necessary for a blind child's normal development. Parents should be made aware of the services offered by the CNIB and the community which can best help their child."

When a blind child reaches school age, his education should be arranged by parents and social service workers in co-operation with schools for the blind. There are six such schools in Canada - in Brantford, Halifax, Vancouver, and three in Montreal. Many blind students go on to higher education. In fact, more than 235 blind students are studying beyond the high school level in sighted community colleges and universities.

However, the young blind person who has an additional handicap such as mental retardation is not always capable of getting an education and finding employment. Delegates felt that these people should have leisure activities which are community based so that the multiple handicapped person is not cut off from family and friends.

Delegates were also concerned with helping blind adults do what they want to do. "We have to get away from the tradition of imposing on the blind what we think is good for them," Miss Cowan said. "Blind people have to be regarded as individuals, not as a cluster of blind people."

The conference, the first since 1965, gave the social service workers an opportunity to exchange ideas and discuss problems.

Loyalist holds seminar

Dr. Robert Bodnary, of the Canada Department of Agriculture, Research Branch in Belleville, spoke at Loyalist College on Wednesday evening, January 26 on the subject of insecticides.
Approximately thirty students and staff participated in a lively and interesting seminar.

Dr. Bodnary has been studying the insects' own hormones as a basis of the newest insect control techniques, which are based on fundamental knowledge of the insects' chemistry, behaviour, and sex life. Thus hormones and virus diseases can be used against insect pest instead of the massive chemical warfare used previously. This form of control, known as the "third generation" of pesticides, has the great advantage of being highly effective without side-effects damaging to the environment.

Salt In Rain

Experts studying storms have determined that up to 10 million tons of salt fall on Canada in rainfall every year. That's more salt than road crews spread on streets and highways to battle winter ice and snow.

DOLLARS AND GOOD SENSE

(By William J. Martin)
Do you know what the trouble with a lot of spending plans is? Too many families with an income of $12,000, spend $12,000. That includes some savings too.

What's the problem, The $12,000 income is a gross figure. What you actually have to spend is your net income -- or your take-home pay.

Do you know what your net income is? Most people don't, and that's where many a budget breaks down.

The problem is far from confined to the lower or middle income families. People in the $100,000 a year salary bracket get into just as much trouble if not more by spending that gross income figure.

For those families whose income varies from year to year, find out your average net income for the last five or six years and use that as a basis for record keeping and expense planning.

While the salaried person may have a hard time finding his net income, the hourly wage earner is much more likely to think in terms of take-home pay. His creditors, however, may not.

Lenders and creditors also have a problem when it comes to thinking in terms of a net income. Most will just use your gross salary when deciding what amount of debt a person can assume.

If you aren't sure what your net income is, find out now and think of this figure when planning your spending. It may be a smaller sum, but it can certainly brighten your financial future.

ISABEL HEADMAN WILL BE WORKING PART-TIME, BEGINNING IN MARCH

TODAY'S CHILD

BY HELEN ALLEN

THE TORONTO SUN SYNDICATE

SPORTS-MINDED

This young lad with friendly smile is Bill, 12 years old. Anglo-Saxon in descent, he is a handsome, healthy boy with light brown hair, green eyes and medium complexion. Though stockily built, he is rather small for his age.

Bill is a shy boy, extremely diffident in offering to take part in any activities though he joins in eagerly when others make the suggestion. Recently he became a member of a hockey team on his own and his Children's Aid worker was both surprised and delighted at this evidence of growing self-confidence.

This lad takes to all sports. He plays baseball in the summer and at school has played both football and soccer. In the summer he attended day camp which he enjoyed very much.

Bill is a pleasant, co-operative boy who gets on well with children his own age. With him he is much more outgoing than with adults. He is having some difficulties with his work in Grade 5 and is waiting to get into an opportunity class. Though not academically inclined, he enjoys some aspects of school. He is imaginative and likes being in plays and doing projects. Physical education is his favorite subject.

Bill very much needs the security and support of a family who will encourage him to realize his abilities and help him develop self confidence without pressure for academic excellence. To inquire about adopting Bill, please write to Today's Child, Station K, Toronto. For general adoption information ask your Children's Aid Society.

Stirling WI holds meeting

The February meeting of Stirling Women's Institute was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ashley Brooks.

President Mrs. E. Cooke opened the business with welcoming all, and a special welcome to the West Hastings District president, Mrs. Roy Tucker of town.

All sang the W.I. Ode and repeated the Mary Stewart Collect.

Mrs. C. Clancy read the minutes and communications, the latter comprising of Senior Sewing Classes, Public Relation Officers, Newsclippings for home and country and the distributing of the new Institute Hand Books.

Mrs. Alex Tanner gave a summary of the financial standings.

Mrs. M. Aythart wished to have the fee for doing quilts be set, as to the size and pattern design. This was agreed upon and any enquiries can be received from Mrs. Aythart.

Plans were made for the 75th District Anniversary which will be held Feb. 14 at the Stirling Community Hall.

Mrs. Raymond Chambers, Curator for the Tweedsmuir History Book outlined history as far back as 1929.

Mrs. Harry Jones expressed thanks for the gift the W.I. members gave them on their 50th wedding anniversary and also thanked the members for serving at their "open house."

Mrs. Tucker then spoke on the Scholarships of Lady Aberdeen of Scotland and how, in her lifetime, she organized a number of worthy societies, all pointing to the making of a better world of people. In foreign lands where children were deprived of proper food and clothing aid was given through the efforts of groups set up in previous years by Lady Aberdeen. Much more will be heard in the future of the Courtesy Scholarships in her name.

Referring to Hand Books, Mrs. Tucker said, "sort of treasure these little books." Fifty thousand have been made up and no more will be available as the branch receives theirs.

Mrs. Tucker also stressed the fact that although the Erand Lee Homestead is secured, it will be just like our own homes, with expenses to keep it running. Thus pass on your 10¢ per member, as your branch's support for its keeping.

Mrs. Cooke presented the speaker with a gift for her visit with us.

The meeting closed with the singing of the Queen and Institute Grace.

During the social period Mrs. E. Grills and Miss Lenora Williams and the hostess served a delicious lunch. Thanks was expressed by Mrs. Aythart.

IODE Chapter holds meeting

The card party sponsored by the IODE Chapter was held in the Stirling Community Hall on Monday night, Feb. 7 with seven tables in play.

The winners were ladies high Mrs. Emma Roe; ladies low Miss Lenora Williams; men's high Mrs. John Senior, playing as a man, and men's low Mrs. Doreen Ackers, also playing as a man. Door prize was won by Mrs. Luella Bronson.

Lunch was served by Miss Rosa Spay, Mrs. Douglas Ackers, Mrs. Carl Boslak and Mrs. Eugene Burrell.

Farm truck licence fees reduced for '72

TORONTO - Truck licences, including those eligible for a reduced farm rate, will go on sale throughout the province on March 1, Charles Macnaughton, Minister of Transportation and Communications announced today.

The expiry date for truck and trailer registration in Ontario is March 31.

The reduced fee will be available to farmers eligible for a grant under the Farm Tax Reduction Program. Such farmers occupy property assessed as a farm and 11 acres or more in size. A farm of less than 11 acres may qualify if it produced an income of $2,000 or more the preceding year.

The new fees schedule will apply to trucks registered at 6,000 pounds gross weight or more operated by farmers for personal transportation and the transportation of their own products and equipment.

The program of reduced fees was developed after consultation with the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food and other representatives of the farming industry.

Some examples of the new fees are: 6,000 pounds gross weight reduced from $44 to $37; 8,000 pounds from $61 to $41; 26,000 pounds from $295 to $100; and 46,000 pounds from $470 to $144. Similar reductions apply throughout the entire fee schedule.

Posters will be displayed in all issuing offices reminding farmers of the new regulations and revised schedules listing the new fees for all weights will be available at all motor vehicle licence agencies.

Under the new regulations, it will still be possible to register a vehicle for three, six and nine month periods as well as the yearly basis. Lower fees will also apply to quarterly registration.

Farmers are encouraged to apply for their new registration early to avoid the last minute lineups.

MARSH WORLDPINTAIL

Second only to the mallard in point of numbers, the wide-ranging pintail is a favorite of sportsmen. Most plentiful west of the Mississippi River, it nests across the Mackenzie Delta, Alaska and the tundra of Canada's Arctic. Shallow marsh areas are preferred nesting grounds and large numbers are raised on Ducks Unlimited projects on the short grass plains. Drakes are larger than females. Adults weigh around two and a half pounds.

"Happiness is a Healthy Mouth," is the dentist's slogan for the week.

Decay Preventable

Ontario residents can improve their dental health and cut down on dental expenses by following a few basic rules, the president of the Ontario Dental Association says.

Dr. Lionel Schiller of Windsor, in a statement issued to mark Dental Health Week from Feb. 6-12 in Ontario, said poor habits of diet and dental hygiene "are still common among a majority of our population."

"The main reasons for most people failing to maintain good dental health are poor habits of diet and dental hygiene and a resigned acceptance that they're going to lose their teeth anyway - so why bother spending money on them?"

Dr. Schiller said that 80 per cent of all dental disease was preventable by proper diet, good oral hygiene habits, early checkups, and water fluoridation.

Dr. Schiller suggested that parents teach their children the basic of home oral hygiene, which he outlined:

- Brush your teeth after eating. Food and other debris in the mouth work

Mount Pleasant

(By Mrs. Percy MacMullen)
On Monday evening, January 31 a Leadership Workshop for the U.C.W. groups in this area was held at St. Paul's United Church, Stirling.

Those attending from Mount Pleasant were: Mrs. Robert Hoard, Mrs. James Hoard, Mrs. Herbert Smith, Mrs. Marguerite McMullen, Mrs. Garth Joslin, Mrs. Claire Knight and Mrs. Edna Campbell. The group demonstrated "An Exercise in Futility."

Mrs. Claire Knight and Crystalyn accompanied her mother, Mrs. Percy Young and her niece Judy Young of Belleville to Toronto on Sunday, January 30 when they attended the 'Ice Follies,'

Due to a heavy snowfall of 12 inches there was no rural mail delivery on Friday, Feb. 4. For the first time since January 31, 1966 the Belleville Intelligence was not delivered on Friday evening. Laneways were filled with snow and several items scheduled for Friday evening were cancelled.

Mrs. Milford Wrightman spent last week with her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Wrightman. Roseland Acres.

WEEKLY REPORT FROM FOXBORO DISTRICT

(BY JACK WOOD)

MORTALITY IS COSTLY
Livestock producers really don't need reminding how costly mortality in young stock can be to their farm enterprise. So this week's column is aimed at providing some advice on keeping mortality to a minimum.

In many, many cases, mortality in pigs, or calves of sheep or poultry can be traced to management causes, whether through inadequate care of the newborn, lack of disease control, or poor nutrition. Certainly it is difficult to have 100% control of mortality, year in and year out. Yet with a little extra effort, many livestock men whose herds or flocks experience high mortality, can reduce mortality and increase their profits.

In a column not long ago we referred to a 15% loss in dairy calves as a significant cost. You can keep dairy calf losses down by following some simple rules.

Place cows in a properly disinfected, well-bedded box stall before calving time.

Disinfect the calf navel right after birth.

Be sure the calf gets colostrum within four hours of its birth, even if you have to force it to suckle the dam.

After the first day, put the calf in a dry, disinfected, single pen with lots of clean bedding.

Feed the calf about 8 - 10% of its body weight as whole milk, increasing the amount, of course, as the calf grows during the first two months of age. Substituting the milk with co-op milk replacer can be done after the calf is 3 to 4 days of age.

Within the first few days of birth begin putting high quality legume hay, and calf starter grower in the pen for the calf. Maintain daily checks for diarrhea or other signs of illness such as rapid breathing, coughing and high temperature which could indicate pneumonia. If it develops, get fast treatment for the sick calves.

No matter what class of livestock or poultry you raise, the general principles of cleanliness, dry, ventilated accommodation, proper diet, and close attention by the manager will help you keep your livestock mortality in check.

Program for blind covers wide range

Unsung heroes of the 1970's - that's how Mr. Harvey Bulter, President of the CCB Quilts White Cane Club of the Blind described the 12 employment officers of The Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Working in every province of Canada, these placement officers, blind themselves, secured jobs for more than 2,000 persons.

In an interview for White Cane Week, a public education blitz sponsored by The Canadian Council of the Blind and the CNIB the local club leader said, "The

Mr. and Mrs. David McAdam, Oshawa, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Nelson, Stirling, were guests with Mr. and Mrs. James Menely on Saturday evening.

Mrs. Smith was a recent guest with her brother James Spry and Mrs. Spry.

Miss Joanne Burkitt was an overnight guest with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Burkitt.

The roads and laneways were impassable owing to the heavy snowfall, snowplows have been busy.

employment officers turn liabilities into assets and put their proteges in tax-paying brackets instead of welfare line-ups."

"Well trained in placement skills, the employment officer knows the capacity of his blind applicant. With a sight handicap himself, he grasps the limitations of blindness and does not expect a client to work in a visual way. When he recommends someone for a job, he knows the person can do it by touch," the club president said. Also a graduate of the college of hard knocks, the placement person is used to meeting the objections of plant managers. Not understanding the handicap, prospective employers usually think the worker will hurt himself. Statistics show a high percentage of freedom from accidents, and a special Workmen's Compensation Act in most provinces provides the necessary protection.

But blind workers are not miracles. They are the results of a constructive training program that covers a wide range of subject from the use of the white cane to an independent outlook. They are trained to face their handicap before the employment officer meets them. He supplies on-the-job training in the plant and calls back often to check on progress.

If you are an employer, remember a person can work without sight and only applies for jobs he can do.

A Newfie Joke

By LYNN JONES

The game of musical chairs in Newfoundland for the past few weeks leads one to wonder just what type of individuals are running for political office in that province. A comment by the new leader of the Liberals there Sunday night seemed to make even less sense - when he implied that if you understood Newfoundland politics this jumping about of party members would make sense.

We fully realize in this island province there is a special emphasis on partisan politics felt little else in the land. The same applies to religious and fraternal life. These people are fiercely devoted to the group of their choice. It seems illogical then to suggest that jumping from one party to another and back again makes any kind of sense.

With the advent of a federal election soon (depending on which prediction you believe) we feel such an attitude toward a party is something to be seriously considered. How can any voter know when he or she marks an "x" that the person, if elected, will represent the party for which he is currently standing? This in effect, robs the voter of his vote, should the politician decide to change chairs between elections.

No one questions the right of any person to have second thoughts about his party's policies, or happenings may occur which a member in conscience feels he cannot support. The principle at stake, we think, is that once elected to represent a certain riding, for a particular party, his duty is to be that spokesman for the length of his term - or resign.

Our personal view is that if John Doe accepts the nomination of a party, in a riding, and is subsequently elected by majority vote, then he must follow that mandate through. Perhaps there might be room for argument if the person concerned was the member in a house with a substantial majority, and he made a change during the last few months of a government's term. What amuses us about the Newfoundland situation, and in the view of some critics may have the rest of the country laughing too, is that all this jumping was done so soon after an election. We realize that political ambitions, mainly cabinet ranking was the primary motive behind the juggling, but it still was not fair to the electors, now or at any other time. The people, presumably in good faith, had elected certain men to government office for another four years. Why then should this trust be abused so quickly?

With the previously announced retirement of Joseph Smallwood, and in addition, the sudden demise of his regime, why complicate things even more by having members show such infantile intelligence as they have. Certainly things are not resolved yet. The chair game has given the opposition more seats than the government, yet no one really wants an election for a day or two. How this will be resolved waits to be seen.

All this could have been avoided, had several individuals been proud enough of their voters' confidence to stick with the party they represented last October.

Tenders called for new school

Tenders will be called early in March for the first phase of the multi-million dollar educational project, to be built on the former Cosmos Imperial Mills property in the south-west corner of Stirling, adjacent to St. James Street.

Advertisements are being placed in area papers this week by the Hastings County Board of Education, to call tenders, which will close on March 13 at 4 p.m. This tender is for the erection of a senior elementary school in Stirling.

Plans and specifications must be obtained from the Toronto architectural firm of Nicol, Scholes, Ream, McBain.

When this project was first announced last April by Board chairman Donald Williams of Stirling, it was described as the first step to relieve overcrowding in Stirling schools. The Stirling School is tentatively scheduled for completion in September 1972.

Second part of the project will be the erection of a high school to be completed by about September 1974.

The full details of the complex have not yet been announced, but the original plans call for inclusion of a library, gymnasium, shops and offices.

Earlier this year soil tests were taken to determine various details required in location and type of foundations required.

Floyd Armstrong mixes batter for the St. John's Anglican Church Men's Club fish and chip supper about to begin for another Lenten season. Photo contributed

St. John's plans Lenten suppers

Last Wednesday, members of the St. John's Anglican Church Men's Club met for a trial run of the forthcoming Lenten fish and chip suppers. Cooks practised setting tables; pie slicers sliced pies; and tea makers made tea. Everyone was getting organized.

The Lenten suppers are a traditional part of Stirling. Floyd Armstrong says that he started cooking for St. John's in 1936 after much experience over a hot stove dating back into World War 1. When asked what made the fish and chip suppers such a success Floyd said, "Well, we give the folks value for their money, and we don't keep them waiting too long."

While the prices of fish and potatoes have risen since the 1930's, the quality of the suppers has remained high. Everett Cooke, who has been purchasing agent for all the supplies for over 25 years, says that quality is what keeps people coming back. He remembers when fish was 18 cents a pound, and grease was 12 cents a pound. Those prices are no longer, but the quality of the food has been maintained.

The Lenten suppers are really a men's affair. Only Mrs. Elsie Armstrong helps directly. "She's really the Colonel Sanders of the fish and chips. She makes the batter with all the secret herbs and spices," said her husband, Floyd.

It is hoped that this year's suppers meet the successes of the past 35 or more years.

Falling tree kills foreman

TWEED - A 20-year-old Tweed man was fatally injured by a falling tree during a dead elm removal program in Madoc township.

Madoc provincial police said Thursday that Robert Moore, 372 Arthur Street, Tweed, died Wednesday night in a Kingston hospital from injuries received Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Moore was taken to Belleville General Hospital with head injuries but was moved to Kingston.

Mr. Moore, married with one child, was acting as foreman for a tree removal gang working on lot 3, concession 2 in Madoc township.

Police said he had been talking with other members of the work party when he stepped into the path of the falling tree.

George Hees, MP, issues statement

The following statement was released by George Hees, MP for Prince Edward-Hastings, on Feb. 8.

The figures released this morning by Statistics Canada, showing that the number of unemployed persons in Canada increased by 135,000 during January, to 1.7 percent of the work force, indicate clearly that the Government's promises during the past year that its policies would steadily reduce unemployment, were based on nothing more concrete than wishful thinking. The situation is serious, and action must be taken now to correct it.

Employment opportunities will only keep pace with the rapidly growing work force when the Government creates economic conditions which will persuade industrial leaders that it will be worth their while to expand production. The Government's socialistic approach to industry has provided no incentive to expand production, and the result has been the present sluggish expansion of business.

The Opposition has made positive suggestions to the Government about the steps that should be taken to increase sales, and thereby increase production and jobs. We have urged a dynamic export drive, to increase sales of Canadian products abroad. We have also urged tax incentives to improve productivity, to reduce costs and selling prices, and thereby make our products sell in larger volume and create more jobs.

The Government has refused to accept these suggestions. It must now either accept them or put forward new and effective policies to stimulate the economy and create jobs.

Senior Citizens growing older

There were over 60 present at Senior Citizens on Thursday. The out of town visitors were Joan (Williams) Reid of Kingsville, Claude and Amy Dufour of Kingsville, Wallace and Helen McIntyre of Madoc and the families of George McMullen, Fred Heasman and Pearl McGee who came loaded with tasty desserts and birthday cakes to celebrate the birthdays of these three. Pearl McGee and Fred Heasman are both trying to grow older and George McMullen is really making a job of it. He is 87 and still going strong. Fred and George vouch that Pearl kisses like a 23 year old. They should know for they were on the receiving end. The birthday song was sung four times, the fourth being for one of our popular girls who was absent, Happy 14th, Delia Descent.

There was a constant sparkle of jewelry that was traced to the left hand of one of our girls. Perhaps for secrecy she should have left her gloves on.

A famous actress was embarrassed at her big party. Her dressmaker had on the same dress she was wearing, and it looked better on him.

This valuable fur-bearer makes its home in those marshes where cattail and bulrush abound. It is dependent on these plants for food and it also provides the materials with which it builds its home. In turn, muskrat houses are utilized as nesting and loafing sites by waterfowl. Channels and openings cut in the dense reed beds by muskrats make the marsh more attractive to waterfowl. At Big Grass Marsh in Manitoba, Ducks Unlimited's first project, muskrats yield an annual fur crop worth many thousands of dollars to local trappers.

B-P's Great Legacy

Next Tuesday is the anniversary of the birth of a man who made one of the greatest contributions to the youth of the world... Lord Robert Baden-Powell of Gilwell, founder of the Boy Scout movement. Next week is set aside by Cubs, Scouts, Venturers, Brownies, Guides, Rangers and Rovers throughout the world, to focus special attention on what has become the largest youth movement in existence, with the exception of any forced-member types that may exist behind the Iron or Bamboo curtain.

Today's youth are maligned in many ways for their dress, activities and pursuit of so-called "doing their thing." If one took time to compare the genuine fun, excitement and coincidental training that are to be found in the activities of the Scouting movement, there would be no call for this criticism. The programs and goals of this interdenominational movement are such that they have been adapted not only among all English-speaking countries, but also in the lands where Christianity is not too prevalent and where one might expect to find more intolerance toward such a program.

To the youth of today, such things as rock music, drugs and finding excuses to abandon the pursuit of what would be loosely called establishment ideals, seem to be the things that get all the prominence. This is only because these are the sensational things that grab the headlines.

The fundamental success of the Scout movement and the activities of its allied groups, are such that they teach boys and girls to become self-reliant. They demand a reasonable amount of obedience but at the same time teach them how to enjoy life with games and activities in the great outdoors, nature's great treatment for mind and body. There seems no comparison of the value to one's health between a hike in the country and hours spent crunched in a dimly lighted room watching television.

In addition to its nature aspect, Scouting provides a hobby outlet no other organization offers. In the 100-plus proficiency badges offered, boys or girls can pursue one or more hobbies, stress present ones or learn new ones to achieve the goals set forth. Similarly, there is a series called public service badges, where the goal is the ability to render first aid, give accurate direction, deliver messages, etc., the whole aim being to train the young man to act calmly and efficiently in time of emergency.

It is obvious such a scope of activities is demanding in the requirement for leaders, facilities, and participants. There is no Scout or Guide group, or any of the older or younger divisions, that is too flush with leaders, with funds or members. If you feel you can offer something to this worthwhile youth organization it is only necessary to show up at a meeting or talk to a parent. Your interest will insure your acceptance as an involved parent. It is not something you will ever regret.

Do You Remember?

25 Years Ago

The young people of St. John's A.Y.F.A. and St. Andrew's Young People enjoyed a sleigh ride on Monday night after which they all met at St. Andrew's where games were played and lunch served.

William K. Bailey, B.A., head of the Department of Science, Bloor St. Collegiate, Toronto, is to become Principal of Riverview Collegiate, according to a recommendation by Dr. C. C. Goldring, director of Education. His new duties will become effective Sept. 1st. Will, who is a son of Mrs. George Bailey and the late Mr. Bailey of Harold is a graduate of Stirling High School, and his many friends in this district will be pleased to learn of his promotion.

On Wednesday Mrs. G. Potter, Mrs. H. L. Fair and Miss

Dorothy Eggleston were joint hostesses at a well arranged social evening at the latter's home in honour of Mrs. Harry Burns. Thirty-two ladies were present and games were enjoyed, with Mrs. E. Cain winning the honours. During the evening Mrs. H. L. Fair gave a brief address welcoming Mrs. Burns to Stirling and Miss Eggleston presented her with a bouquet of flowers. Mrs. Burns very graciously thanked the ladies for the beautiful gift, following which a dainty lunch was served.

Miss Annetta English of the Green Rest Home celebrated her 83rd birthday on Saturday, February 8th, receiving many lovely birthday messages and gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Holmes, Avondale, spent the afternoon with Miss English. A very lovely birthday cake and lunch was served.

65 Years Ago

Anchor ice in the river at Belleville is causing a serious flood in the lower parts of the city.

Rev. W. H. Stevens will preach in the Baptist church, Hubble Hill, on Sunday evening, at 7 o'clock.

Miss A. A. H. Martin has continued to retain her position as teacher in the Public School. Her resignation was handed in on account of her mother's illness, but owing to the latter's improved health she is able to remain in her position.

The home team journeyed to Trenton on Friday of last week, when they crossed sticks with the Shamrocks of that town. Although they went down to defeat by a score of 5 goals to 8, the games was by no means one-sided, but was stubbornly fought throughout. The puck was faced at 8:15 p.m., and in a few minutes play the visitors succeeded in landing the rubber in the net. Stirling still continued to rush matters, but were unable to score owing to hard luck in shooting and the effective work of Trenton's goal-keeper. In a short time the play shifted to the opposite goal and by combination work Trenton evened the score. Stirling made repeated rushes up the ice, but were unable to secure any more goals this half, as Trenton's defence were always on hand and time and again blocked them. It was about at this period of the game that Mr. Clarence Fletcher received a nasty blow on the eye and was compelled to retire for the remainder of the half, Trenton putting off a man to take his place. Before the gong sounded for half-time Trenton scored twice again, making it 3-1 in their favor.

Upon resuming play for the second half Fletcher was able to go on the ice again, and the games continued fast until after several minutes' play Trenton landed another made another goal. Score 5-2. After several attempts Stirling notched one more, and no more scoring was done for the balance of the game, the final score being 5-3 in favor of Trenton.

A Weekly Meditation

ABUNDANT LIFE
By DOUGLAS TYLER
Grace Chapel

"I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly," John 10:10. This claim of Christ, like every other saying He made, is absolutely true. Those who know Him have learned that when He is received as Lord and Savior He comes with a new vitality and superabundance of life. Life is then really worth living!

No one can enjoy true satisfaction until he knows the Lord Jesus, for the world cannot meet the deepest needs of the human heart. Athletes have testified that the fame they so desperately desired did not produce real happiness when they obtained it. Wealthy men and women have found that money did not meet their deep seated longings nor provide true pleasure.

Why? Because God made man to have fellowship with Him, and no one can have true fulfillment apart from a consciousness of His love and presence. Sin has separated man from God, for the Bible teaches that the natural man is "dead in trespasses and sins" (Ephesians 2:1). Therefore, our Lord's declaration, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly," is both an assurance and a pledge. They possess eternal life, and they are assured an abundant provision for their spiritual needs. These words of Christ have often been misunderstood. Since the Lord had just presented Himself as the good shepherd of His sheep, the idea of abundance gives us the picture of contented animals grazing in green pastures ribboned with sparkling brooks.

He did not intend, however, that we should take this to mean that those who belong to Him will enjoy a life of freedom from all cares, burdens, and problems. The abundance Christ gives is spiritual in nature, enabling those who know Him to maintain serenity and confidence, even in adverse circumstances.

They know they are safe in Christ's keeping, they enjoy peace with God, and are assured of eternal glory. They are not, however, shielded from all suffering. Believers not only share in the misery and pain that are part of human life, but also face an inner tension which is the result of the conflict between the new life imparted by Christ, and the old nature inherited from Adam. Even more, they are objects of Satan's hatred, and are under constant supernatural attack.

God grant that we all will be partakers of this "abundant life." How? By honest and sincere confession of our sin and guilt before Him and receiving Him as our sin bearer and Savior. "But as many as received Him, to them gave He the power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on His name," John.

Roses are....

You could call Mrs. Pamela Samuels Ontario's Environmental pin-up girl.

She and her husband Joe are featured in one of the Department of the Environment's most popular pamphlets. It's called "Mr. and Mrs. Samuels are so concerned about pollution... they're doing something about it!"

The London, Ontario, housewife attended an anti-pollution conference in February, 1970, and became so concerned about what she heard she couldn't sleep. So she prepared a pollution control guide she, her husband and two children have followed ever since.

It's a house holder's guide, and most of the points she made were the ones all of us should think of and don't, like walking instead of driving short distances and pulling weeds instead of putting poison on your lawns. Or using returnable bottles, and plastic plates instead of throw-away paper ones on picnics... just the things that keep air, land and water a little cleaner and life a little more pleasant.

She's an intelligent, attractive woman with a streak of bubbling good humor that underlies her quiet, serious approach to pollution problems.

She is a member of Pollution Probe in London, but her real effectiveness is as an interested and concerned housewife. People listen to her when they might shy away from anybody with a title who could be called a professional pollution crusader.

In November, she was one of three panelists in a series of three experimental workshops sponsored by the Department of the Environment in Kingston, London and North Bay. She's good at that sort of thing, and she's always a popular speaker. She keeps informed on pollution problems and people believe her. Because she cares.

St. John's Anglican Church, Madoc was the setting for the double-ring ceremony recently, when Bonnie Lee West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Mahoney, R.R. 1, Madoc, became the bride of Garry Edward Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thompson, R.R. 2, Stirling. Rev. James Thompson officiated and wedding music was played by Mr. John Murphy, who accompanied the soloists, Misses Marie and Joan Donaldson.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of nylon chiffon over tulle, with a sheer-look bodice featuring Bishop sleeves with the fitted cuffs adorned with chantilly lace and a stand up collar, and highlighted with re-embroidery of applique lace and seed pearls. This lace and pearl theme was also carried down the two centre panels of the skirt. A detachable skirt edged with matching lace. Her floral headpiece of guirle lace and nylon illusion petals was caught to a four-tier nylon illusion veil, and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Douglas Blake who wore a gown in dark blue with the solid shade bodice and the printed pattern culotte skirt. She wore a matching petal headpiece with short veil. The bridesmaids, Judy West, Kathy Roscoe, and Christine Andrews were gowned identically to the matron of honor, as was the flowergirl, Angela Fox.

Mr. Douglas Blake attended the bridegroom and the ushers were his brothers Grant and Glen Thompson, and James Haggerty. Ring bearer was Master Jeffrey Thompson, nephew of the groom and he carried the rings on a heart shaped pillow.

A reception was held in the Sacred Heart Parish Hall where the bride's mother received the guests wearing a shrimp shade ensemble of long sleeved polyester dress and matching shade chantilly lace coat. She wore matching flowers in her hair, black accessories and a corsage of white roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother who wore a gold crimplene dress and coat ensemble with gold and black accessories and a corsage of white roses. Mr. John McInroy of Stirling was master of ceremonies at the reception. A dance was held in the Parish Hall at night. For the wedding trip to the United States, the bride wore a deep mauve velvet dress with silver accessories and an orchid corsage.

Following the rehearsal, the wedding party was entertained at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will reside at R.R. 2, Stirling. Previous to her marriage the bride was honored at showers given by the Tannery Ball Club, by her cousin Miss Christine Andrews and Miss Judy West, and one by Mrs. Douglas Blake, the matron of honor.

Newlyweds are honored

On Thursday evening last, a large crowd of friends and neighbors of the West Huntingdon Community gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thompson to honor their son Garry and his bride, formerly Miss Bonnie West of Madoc.

Mr. Alex McCurdy was chairman for a program which opened with community singing led by Mrs. Don Thompson. Several songs were sung by the West Huntingdon Sing A Long Group. Readings were given by Mrs. B. Haggerty, "Wedding Day"; Mrs. D. Cooke, "Especially to the Bride"; Jim Farrey, "Don't you Quit"; and by Mrs. R. Sills, "Men Get Married Too."

Mr. Jim Haggerty read an address to the bride and groom and Mr. D. Thompson and Mr. C. Davis made the presentation of a china cabinet, electric coffee percolator and lighter on behalf of the community. Garry and Bonnie made suitable replies and thanked those who planned the party.

Lunch was served and a social hour followed.

St. James CWL meets

"Right Here, Right Now" was the title of a film shown by Rev. J.F. McGarvey at the February meeting of the Catholic Women's League, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Doran. This film demonstrated graphically how one person can be an influence for good on those around him. The meeting opened with the celebration of Mass.

Mrs. Doran gave the treasurer's report, including the results of the barn sale at Hoard's Station.

Members were reminded that the World Day of Prayer would be held this year at 2 p.m. on March 3rd, at Mount Pleasant United Church.

The card party on Monday, March 13 in the Frankford Parish Hall will be under the sponsorship of St. James C.W.L. A number of members have donated prizes.

Mrs. Joe Forestall read an article on "One Solitary Life" and Mrs. Roy LaChapelle read some advice for those who would stay young.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Ryan. At the close of business lunch was served by the hostess with the assistance of Mrs. Stan Meeks.

Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hulin, St. James Street, returned home this week from a week's vacation in the Bahamas Islands. Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Jones and family visited last weekend with their parents in Gravenhurst.

Life in Mexico

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ewing, Oak Hills, who are holidaying in Mexico, sent the following letter to relatives at home recently. The contents give an insight into life in that country.

Oaxaca, Oaxaca, Mexico.

Dear Friends: The next night is the festival of the candles and so we went to see this event which consists of parades, floats, more music and brass bands, Jukebox, all of which are of the nativity scene, takes place after they have made several circuits of the zocalo. On the floats are little children dressed in costume, some as angels with halo, others as shepherds and so on with real live sheep and goats, asses and calves. Each float is from a different area and each is accompanied by supporters who march to the music and carry candles enclosed in various holders in many shapes such as stars or tulips or lilies. Now along with this action the onlookers participate in an old Indian custom of a ceremony called the bunuelos which consists of eating a very thin delicious fried thing that looks like an oversized potato chip. This is served piping hot from a pot of boiling oil, syrup is poured over it and it is served in a thin unglazed pottery bowl. While eating the bunuel it is the custom to make a wish on having finished it one smashes the bowl on the pavement and completes the ritual. Now you can imagine 50,000 people participating in a place the size of Toronto's Phillips square and all this going on, piles of bunuelos are everywhere and stacks of bowls, parades, music, excitement, balmy air, flowers, etc. and of course firecrackers and the continuous sound of breaking crockery. The broken pieces rising higher and higher on the side-walk and as one walks on these pieces they break into smaller fragments adding their noise to the din. The hauling of serapes, blankets, and just about everything continues on as before, everyone has a happy face and no ill will or meanness exists.

The old trucks on which the nativity scenes are built are something to see, on each one is a portable generator run by a gas engine, this is to produce the electricity for the many lights that go with the display. These machines are noisy and evil smelling, carbon monoxide fumes are being spewed out and the little ones on the truck looked awfully sick by the time it was over. We were deeply concerned for them, no one else paid any attention to this obvious danger. At midnight a mass was said for everyone and the party broke up. In this area there is very little crime. The police are most lenient and people operate cars without license plates or headlights or mufflers, and one would have to go to great lengths to provoke the police into making an arrest.

The same old story here as anywhere else in Mexico, there are the very, very poor, real downright poverty amidst very, very rich people who seem to not care for the others.

Well I will close now and put this in the mail. We are on our way to place a call to home, this is a big deal and can only be made from a certain telephone office, the whole thing taking hours in some cases.

P.S. We will be leaving here tomorrow, Dec. 27, 8:00 a.m. We are not sure where we will be going from here, we hear so many stories about Central America it makes us doubt the wisdom of our decision to go on. On all occasions where we have discussed this with recent travellers it is the same story, not one good word for the treatment of tourists, but most all say the scenery is beautiful but not worth the trouble.

DOLLARS AND GOOD SENSE

By William J. Martin
How did you and your family fare in 1971? Was it a good year for you? Can you prove it either way?

I mean, if you have records and other paperwork to substantiate your dealings during the year? Now is the time to start gathering these documents so that when tax time comes in a few months, you'll be able to have a complete report made. If you've been keeping records faithfully throughout the year, you should be fully prepared to take advantage of all the tax deductions to which you are entitled. If not, get busy now while you still have some time before those tax deadlines.

In many cases what you can't locate at home can be duplicated by others who have access to these documents. This takes a little time, however, and that's why it's important not to wait any longer to get started.

Without this documentation of your affairs during the past year, you could lose out on many deductions which are legally yours to take. It's hard enough to pay the taxes you properly owe, but it's much worse when you end up paying too much because you either forgot about certain deductions or couldn't support certain transactions with documentation.

Of course, now that I've got you thinking about proper record keeping, I hope you follow through for 1972. Keep your important records and papers in a safe place where you and other members of your family can find them without unnecessary delay.

Check with your bank or savings and loan association about getting a safe deposit box for those key documents you have and set up a filing system at home for routine records.

You don't need to become a bookkeeper to accomplish this, but it is important that you establish a good, workable record filing system. You could save quite a bit of money by putting your hands on the right papers when you need them.

River Valley WI

(By Mrs. Percy MacMullen)
The postponed meeting of the River Valley Women's Institute was held at the Centre on Thursday, February 10, with Mrs. Raymond McConnell as hostess.

There were 17 members, four visitors and one pre-school child in attendance.

Mrs. Vernon Harry, first vice president, was in charge of the meeting with the Institute Ode and the Mary Stewart Collect.

The roll call followed when each lady placed 10 cents in the penny jar and chose a parcel which she unwrapped and wore at the meeting. In the group were jewelry, pot holders, hats, decorative accessories.

A picnic of the group was taken for the Tweedsmuir History book.

Mrs. Gerald Brooks read the minutes and correspondence. Mrs. J. L. Donohoe gave the institute finances and Mrs. V. Harry reported for the centre and it was decided to complete the renovations.

The correspondence included a letter of thanks from the Associated Countrywomen of the World for the two Unesco City Coupons.

Project 523 to purchase a Landrover to take the Lesotho Home-makers Association is now closed as sufficient funds have been received.

The pooling fee for the Guelph Conference will be paid and the membership in the Hastings' Historical Society.

Plans were completed for the Hastings West District Anniversary celebration on Monday evening, February 14 in Stirling Community hall.

In the convenors reports the Home Economics told about drugs and the Historical convenor gave a message re Steven Foster, the song writer.

The A.C.W.W. convenor reported $1.75 in the January penny jar and she read an item from the Countrywoman Magazine.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen read a message from the Link secretary in England voicing thanks for the lovely gifts at Christmas and announcing that Miss Harris was their new president.

For public relations, Mrs. MacMullen, read a message from Mrs. Maryn Pardy, editor of Home and Country. She also displayed a map showing the country of Lesotho in Africa, where the Landrover will be used.

Two new members were welcomed, Mrs. Paul Sorensen and Mrs. E. W. Bogart.

The president of Hastings West District, Mrs. Roy Tucker, spoke briefly and the secretary presented the new handbooks. These have been purchased for the Women's Institute members as a guide to carry out their work from the days of 1897 when the first organization took place in Wentworth County at Stoney Creek, Ont.

Gloria Harry gathered the collection.

The program on the theme Historical Research and Current Events was arranged by Mrs. Ernest Carr and Mrs. Philip Conley. The sing song included 'Get Acquainted' and 'The Sun My Song' with Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh as pianist.

Mrs. Carr read a poem, "How to Live".

The motto on the theme, 'Don't be discouraged by the blue, when things don't go as you want them to. Remember the mighty oak that grew, was once a little nut like you, was prepared by Mrs. Alice Coombs and read by Mrs. Roy Tucker. This stressed that each individual try to make tomorrow a better day. Everyone has frustrations and discouragements but so long as we have work to be accomplished and someone who needs our helping hand we should be thankful for what we have.

The Current Events, prepared by Mrs. Philip Conley, was read by Mrs. Roy Bush.

The various items included a reference to the new floor at the Centre, folks who had been ill, and those who had been to the sunny south, congratulations to our president and a welcome to her baby daughter, greetings to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones who recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Mr. Jones had been mail courier for 43 years in the River Valley area.

Due to the heavy snowfall the main attractions have been skating and snowmobiling in the valley area.

A skit entitled, Mrs. Yesterday meets Mrs. Tomorrow, was presented in a humorous manner by Mrs. Ernest Carr, Mrs. Roy Tucker and Mrs. Douglas Kane.

The stage was arranged as an old fashioned living room depicting the days of 1897. Mrs. Carr wore an old-fashioned centennial costume. Mrs. Tucker, a mini dress and Mrs. Kane demonstrated that the world would be like in 1997. At this date a pill and a glass of water will constitute breakfast and there will be see through telephones.

The members brought baby pictures, school groups and a large collection of photos of bygone days. An amusing contest to name the people brought a host of memories of the olden days.

The weekly card parties have been successful with many visitors in attendance. There will be five more parties, two in February and three in March. The Institute year closes March 31.

The annual pot luck supper for the River Valley Community will be held at the Centre on Friday evening, March 3, at 6:45 p.m. Each family will provide their own dishes, silverware and food.

At the close of the meeting the group adjourned to the kitchen where they were seated at a long table. The Institute group was sung and the refreshment committee, Mrs. Vernon Harry, Mrs. Harry Morgan and Mrs. John Morgan, furnished a variety of decorated muffins and valentine candy.

Dear C. E.:
When you wrote that letter, you took your first step. Now you're ready for the second, which is to concentrate on yourself - rather than on others - for a while. Why not begin by seeing where you stand physically? Phone your doctor. Get a checkup. Ask him to suggest a diet. Follow it even if it hurts. And don't expect miracles; losing weight takes time and patience. Also pay a visit to the beauty parlor. Have your hair done; get a manicure. Read up on good grooming generally. If there's a driving school nearby, sign up for some lessons. If there isn't, hire a competent neighbor as your instructor. Start being a person in your own right. And get out of your mother's shadow.

Dear Margaret Brookfield:
I've just had my 48th birthday. I feel at least 100 years old. I've raised five children, three of whom are still teenagers, but my own interests and desires have fallen by the wayside. I've never done anything for myself, only for others in the family. Now I'm "old," fat and dumb. I never even learned to drive a car, and where I live there aren't that many places to walk to. My mother who's 70, has kept a fresh, young outlook on life and can run circles around me any day. How can I find enough inner inspiration to make myself over? C. E., Cold Springs, N.Y.

Adventures in citizenship

By LYNN JONES

Elsewhere in the paper is an editorial devoted to the anniversary of Scouting, and lauding its merits, but here I would like to try and mention a few personal notes combined with a few relevant facts about the conception and development of this boys' plan.

Growing up as they do today in the circle of hockey and basketball leagues, before and after school activities, as well as that essential indoor sport — TV watching, boys today seem to be missing much of the adventure in life. Sure the organized things are fine, but how much more fun it was to shovel off a rink on the lake or river, just as a sample. That way we appreciated the sport when we did get playing.

The same applies to the adventures many boys are missing by not belonging to this great group. But how did it all start?

Scouting is now almost 65 years old, and started from an idea that was first a dream, and later became the absorbing passion of Lord Robert Baden-Powell of Gilwell, B.P. as he was affectionately known by his boys, was the hero of a battle in the South African War, known as the siege of Mafeking. He was commander of a garrison surrounded for many days, even months, before relief came. During that siege, he found he could put women and children to work doing vital but light work and thus relieve men for the fighting. Through this simple strategy alone, it is understood he had enough resistance to outlast the efforts of the native enemy.

After his subsequent return to England, and while still an army officer, he began to reflect on the way the youngsters had adapted to doing the simple chore of carrying messages, and felt this type of education might be passed on. During his army career, B.P. served in many theatres, and saw many examples of native adaptability, which he remembered when he came home.

In order to get his concepts across to the young people of early 20th century England, he began writing a serialized story, which appeared every fortnight. He wrote it in adventure form and also included in it ways to live off the land; better ways to camp; how to be resourceful in handling matters at home, and also little games to enjoy and while away the time. The story caught the imagination of the lads, and each edition was eagerly awaited.

Seeing that his ideas were accepted, B.P. felt that he had to experiment with them and see what happened. In the summer of 1907 he gathered together a group of two dozen boys, half from the rich and half from the poor areas of London, and took them to camp on Brownsea Island. The camp was run on the Scout system used today — the group divided into patrols, doing things as little groups, and coming together for larger activity and instruction periods. Thus was born the idea of self-reliance that forms the basis of the Scout program. The boys learned to camp properly and by building needed amenities from materials at hand. So great was the success of this simple session, that it launched the movement which has now moved across the world.

B.P.'s first literary effort was entitled "The Game of Scouting For Boys," and the unofficial hand book of the movement until recent years was a revised version with the last three words only at the title. This book provided the nucleus of ideas, and from them leaders were expected to expand and adapt to meet the needs of their special locale. To attempt to describe the special magic that appeals to Scouts is impossible, because it is composed of life's intangibles. You must have experienced the warm glow of a campfire at night, enjoying the songs and the skits of youth; have taken part in a night game, sneaking about the rocks and getting stuck with pine pitch, as you await the passing of your quarry; have savored the aroma of meals cooked over an open fire, with coffee brewing in a old tin can; and potatoes baking in mud coats.

There is also the comradeship that comes from patrol work. This group of up to eight boys does things as a unit; each has his own chores within the group; and with changes in duties, each becomes familiar with all the tasks; there is the inter-patrol competitions, be it who can tie the fastest knot, or who can solve a tracking puzzle in the bush.

As one who spent some years in the Scouts, and related groups, it is hard to understand how boys today seem to pass these things by. I know many of the things I've done have been made easier or perhaps even possible by the training or experiences I had as a Boy Scout. Next week, I'll take a little look at how this great idea took wings and flew oceans and continents to become perhaps even more than the United Nations truly operative, international body.

Stirling Rotary Club plans Timmy Night

Everyone loves to see a child able to enjoy life to the fullest, but for those on whom misfortune has fallen, there is some measure of relief provided by those who care.

Next week, residents of Stirling and area have a chance to help, and show they care by attending the 1st Annual Timmy Night, to be held in the Stirling

Theatre and sponsored by the local Rotary Club.

Timmy is a name that has become synonymous with crippled children across Ontario, and this year marks the 50th anniversary of the Ontario Society For Crippled Children, the group that sponsors the annual Easter Seal drive to raise funds for crippled and handicapped children's work.

Stirling area residents will be asked to contribute toward the $3,000 required for work in this area handled by the Club, Ed Klompmaker is chairman of the committee handling arrangements, and he is also chairman of the Quinte District of Rotary, for the same work.

Thursday, March 2, is the night set for the kickoff of the local campaign. The program planned at the theatre will feature a concert by the Centennial High School Band from Belleville, which, under the leadership of Monty Emerson has been very successful in band competitions. Included in the 65 members are many Stirling and area students.

Also featured will be the comedy and poetry of Noel Stockton, public relations officer with the Unemployment Insurance Office in Belleville, and who has a wide reputation for lively entertainment. Assisting him will be his daughter Julie, a third-year student in theatre arts at York University, Toronto.

Local star of the night will be Stirling's Timmy, 17-year-old Randy Sararas, who has been a recipient of support by the local Rotarians for 16 years. During this time he has been supplied with seven artificial limbs. In addition, the club is helping eight other local youngsters with transportation for treatment and numerous other ways.

Rotary President Elwood Bateman has extended an invitation to all the residents who can come and help give this year's drive a big kickoff. Tickets for the Thursday show are available from any Rotarian, and at Klompmaker Bros. Groceries and Nobles Drug Store.

In addition to the show, funds are also sought by the mailing of Easter seals to all local residents and a walkathon, which is planned for later in the spring. Last year, the club raised $2,800 through their efforts in this work alone.

As an example of the support that has been arranged for the kickoff evening, refreshments for the band members have been donated by Coca Cola in Belleville, Tim Horton Donuts and the Evergreen Cheese factory.

Hastings West District W marks 75th anniversary

(By Mrs. Percy MacMullen) Monday evening, February 14, was a night to remember when 120 institute members from the eight branches enjoyed a smorgasbord supper in Stirling community hall in honor of the 75th anniversary of the founding of the first world institute organized at Stoney Creek, Ont., on Feb. 19, 1879.

The president, Mrs. Roy Tucker and the secretary, Mrs. Vernon Harry welcomed the group as they arrived. The hall was provided by the Stirling branch and each member furnished her own cutlery and one dish of food.

The president and her committee previously set up the long tables which were decorated with festive seals and gold and silver ornaments set on a gold dolly and centred with gold net, blue artificial bachelor buttons and a royal blue candle.

The serviettes were yellow with festive seals and gold and silver. The table corners were royal blue and gold.

The 75th anniversary cake in white with yellow rosettes and scroll was lettered for the occasion and the names of the eight branches were arranged along the sides. Eight blue candles adorned the top of the cake. The cake was placed on a gold centrepiece set on a white linen cloth. Beside the cake was a special knife trimmed with blue and gold ribbon and tall blue candles.

Directly behind the cake was the district banner depicting the names of the eight institutes as follows, Bay of Quinte, Chatterton, River Valley, Sidney South, Stirling, Pine Grove, Uniondale and Wallbridge.

A replica of Adelaide Hoodless, the founder of institute world, was placed on the wall and the president said, "How proud we would be if she were able to watch over all the anniversary functions held in her honor in 1972."

There was no head table and everyone sat wherever they chose. The beautiful smorgasbord supper was well arranged. Eight ladies volunteered to pour the tea and coffee and another group volunteered for kitchen duties. The institute Grace was sung following a formal welcome by the president.

Mrs. Gerald Irvine, curator of the district, gave a brief history of the district and read a list of presidents and secretaries down through the years. Hastings West is 72 years old as they were organized in 1900. Eight ladies then assisted Mrs. Irvine with a candle lighting ceremony. They were five past presidents, Mrs. Louis Rodgers, Mrs. Roy Bush, Mrs. Everett Phillips, Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Mrs. Leslie Finkle, one past secretary, Mrs. Perry Branson and the current president, Mrs. Roy Tucker and secretary, Mrs.

Vernon Harry. This stressed that the Associated Countrywomen of the World encircles the earth, making friends wherever it goes. "May the candles we light this anniversary night help spread love and peace as they glow."

This was followed by "The Hymn of all Nations," Mrs. Edson Sine, past F.W.I.O. Board Director and Mrs. Tucker then put the knife in the cake and Mrs. Ernest Carr with Mrs. Philip Conley carried the cake to the kitchen. There it was cut, put on glass plates and served with punch.

Mrs. Robert Burkitt, Uniondale W.I., provided special piano music during this interval which included, Whispering Hope, Auld

Senior citizens scandal free

We are always happy to have visitors at Senior Citizens. Last week we welcomed Mrs. Good from Mountain Grove and Charlie and Myrtle Johnston from the Trenton Club. Twelve tables of euchre enjoyed their games with Madge Davis and Lloyd Dufco coming out on top and Ross Hoard and Iva Aythart landing at the bottom. Guy Bradshaw presented two ball point pens for a draw which were won by Ada Bush and Mabel Brooks. The Henry Street girls kinda ganged up on us. Tasty assorted sandwiches and beverage were served by Ethel Huggin, Martha Wood, Florence Hough and Ed Campbell.

Do you know sometimes I get so tired just writing the truth if some scandal doesn't happen soon I'm going to write a lie. By the way Mr. Mumby is acting I may not have to wait very long. Whenever a lady visitor comes to our club alone, the first thing Mr. Mumby says is, "Is she a widow?"

A wife attempted to convince her husband that she would never have a date with a blonde one night, a brunette the next night and a red head the next night.

"That's all right with me," said the husband, "but don't give me any trouble when I come home."

Philip was winner in the grade nine and ten class while his sister, Sandra, competing against three other students, spoke on Dreams, while Sandra, who had only one opponent, chose the topic Motivation.

The family team will now proceed to next Sunday's zone "talk out" to be held in Belleville. This contest will be a prelude to the provincial finals in March. The Sunday's judges were Bill McConnell, a Centennial teacher and Jack Cousins, a retired school board employee. Contestants were treated to lunch by members of Legion Branches 99 and 587 in Belleville.

Last week Philip and Sandra competed in the Ontario Hydro sponsored, Oral Communication Festival held in Belleville. The competition was on a county basis.

Sandra won in the impromptu class and will proceed to the zone finals this Friday. Philip presented the prepared speech contest but was defeated. Both students represented Centennial Secondary School.

New law applies to MOHs

Ontario physicians are now required to report all cases of venereal diseases directly to their local medical officer of health. The report, required by new legislation, must be filed within 24 hours and be sent to the Minister of Health by the local MOH within one week.

The Venereal Diseases Prevention Amendment Act, 1971, simplifies this reporting procedure in order to streamline tracing of all venereal disease contacts and ensure prompt treatment of infected persons. Patient confidentiality is still maintained.

Reports can now be made by the doctor to his medical officer of health in writing, by telephone or in person.

VD reporting in the past by private physicians has been lax, according to the Honorable Richard T. Potter, M.D., Ontario's new Minister of Health.

"The new, less time-consuming procedure should improve results," he said. "That's what we are working toward."

The amendment broadens the term "venereal diseases" to include syphilis, gonorrhoea, chancroid, granuloma inguinale and lymphogranuloma venereum. It enables physicians to examine and treat for venereal disease any person 16 years of age or over, with that person's consent only. It also provides that no action or proceeding can be taken against the physician for acting upon consent of a person under 16 years of age, if the physician has no reason to believe that the person giving consent is under that age.

One of the books donated by the Stirling and Rawdon district Churches has now arrived. The beautiful volume "Birds of Canada", and we hope to be able to report on the other purchases soon. Until then - Happy Reading!

Thanks were expressed to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Tompkins for the donation of two chrome coat racks for the hall.

Mrs. Gerald Russell gave an account of the 75th anniversary luncheon, in honor of the founding of F.W.I.O., which she and Mrs. John Carlisle attended at the Canadian Room, Royal York Hotel, Toronto.

The motto, "The past speaks wisdom to the future," was given by Mrs. Keith Clancy.

Mrs. Ernest Thain opened the program by presenting gifts to the grandmothers present, Mrs. John Rainie for the oldest grandmother, Mrs. Kenneth Tompkins for the youngest and Mrs. Omar Dracup for the most grandchild.

Several selections were read, "My Autograph Album" by Mrs. Douglas Clancy, "Granny's Cure-all" by Miss Clara Thain, "A Grandmother's Joy" by Mrs. Bruce Stapley, and "My Grandma" by Mrs. Alfred Atkins. A solo was rendered by Mrs. W. Cox. Mrs. Thain conducted a contest.

The card party sponsored by Tanager L.O.L. was held Friday night with five tables in play. The winners were ladies 1st, Mrs. John Courtney; ladies 2nd, Mrs. Jim York; ladies low, Mrs. Archie Wickens; mens 1st, Gordon Preston; mens 2nd, Douglas Sarles; mens low, David Ray; Door Prize, Mrs. John Courtney.

Be not deceived

Listening to the comments of the experts made during the arrival of U. S. President Nixon in Peking Sunday night, one got the impression there was general rejoicing around the world that the meeting had come off.

Perhaps it is true that a slight thaw in the longstanding cold war between the United States and Red China prompted a general sigh of relief, particularly throughout the Western countries.

Nixon's visit no doubt represents a lessening of world tensions which, on several occasions in recent years, have pushed us toward the brink of nuclear holocaust.

Still, the Free World must never be lulled into thinking that by sending their state leaders on frequent safaris for talks with Communist leaders, world peace will be secured.

Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Cuba, among many other countries, should serve to remind all of us that the Marxists are quite capable of shoving a knife into our backs while they smile to our faces.

No matter what the propagandists would have us believe, the godless philosophy of the Communists is as materialistic, cruel and destructive of the individual as it ever was. For the sake of liberty, we had better not forget that.

While the commentators are speaking their high-sounding words of praise whenever leaders of Western and Communist countries huddle, blood runs cold in the veins of many free people who wonder how much poisonous doctrine our leaders are sowing in.

We are confident that President Nixon, with his long experience as a leader, will not be taken in by any mealy-mouthed statements by the Red Chinese. And we join with hopeful people around the world that the president's visit will lead to a better understanding between these two powerful nations.

But let us not fall under the illusion that this week's talks represent any real softening in the Communist philosophy. The Marxists will never be satisfied with anything short of world domination, and free people should never allow any show of friendship to blind them from that fact.

25 Years Ago

Mrs. Catherine Reynolds, of Marmora, celebrated her 90th birthday on Saturday, February 19th. Mrs. Reynolds, former resident of Stirling, has made her home at Marmora for a number of years with her daughter, Mrs. F. R. Wells. For the past year she has been confined to her bed through illness. Her many friends extend best wishes as she joins the ranks of the nonagenarians.

Members of St. Paul's Young Marrieds Club enjoyed a sleighing party last night and afterwards were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Utman.

Members of St. Paul's Y.P.U. presented their play, "Betty, Girl Of My Heart," at Stockdale last night before a large and appreciative audience. Messrs. Jack Bush and Bob Hulin rendered trombone and trumpet duets and Misses B. Robson and Irma Miron, vocal duets, during the intermissions.

Considerable property damage resulted when a car driven by Glen Whitehead skidded on the icy roadway and crashed into a gas pump at McIntosh and Wells Garage about 8:30 on Saturday night. The force of the impact broke the pump and a short-circuit in the electric wiring caused it to break into flames, which were subdued after about twenty minutes. Fortunately the gas line did not break or a more serious conflagration would have resulted. The car escaped damage.

65 Years Ago

The long outstanding question as to whether the outlet of the Trent Valley Canal would be at Trenton or Port Hope has at last been decided in favor of Trenton. Careful surveys have been made of both routes by the Department of Railways and Canals, and the result has been to indicate that Trenton, on the whole, has more in its favor as an outlet for this waterway than has Port Hope. The surveys show that the difference between the two routes, so far as construction is concerned, is not very material. In this respect Port Hope has a somewhat stronger claim. The distance, compared with Trenton, is somewhat shorter. The cost of construction therefore would be, according to the engineers' report, about $40,000 less to Port Hope than to Trenton. But this does not take into account the land damages and waterpower privileges, in which respect the Trenton route is found to be better. One great factor in favor of Trenton is that barges can be taken from Midland through the Trent Valley Canal to Montreal with perfect safety, being landlocked all the way. If Port Hope had been selected as an outlet these barges would have to be towed for a considerable distance out in the open lake, a rather risky if not impossible experiment in severe weather.

A Weekly Meditation

BY REV. JAMES F. MCGARVEY
St. James the Minor Church
Stirling

Because we are all born again of water and Spirit in our Baptism, St. Paul points out, we "have been consecrated in Christ Jesus and called to be holy people (1 Cor 1:2). That is why we can be addressed as a 'Church of God'. We are the fulfillment of the assembly of Yehweh of the Old Testament.

Very often the shapes and forms of what we should be as a people of God comes from patterns of people in Old Testament times. God has a way, a pattern, of dealing with his people; we as people of God have a manner, a habit, of responding to God as his people. A Study of the Bible helps us to discover that pattern and accordingly, understand both God and ourselves better.

The Lord spoke to Israel and gave it a mission "to raise up the tribes of Jacob, and restore the survivors of Israel" (Is 49:6). The mission does not end there but it must reach out... That my salvation reach the end of the earth" (Is 49:6).

The mission described in Isaiah can offer us a pattern for our thoughts and actions for today as a people of God, as a Church, as those with the Spirit. The church has a mission to itself. The church is always to be purified. The church has a mighty task to move its members to the love and service which Christ called for. The church must work for constant purifying and strengthening of its members.

The mission to itself is only part of the church's work. One of the criticisms of Old Testament Israel is that it was a people turned in upon itself, concerned about itself, caring only for itself. Perhaps it did miss the message given through Isaiah to be a "light to nations, that my salvation may reach to the end of the earth." So we must have an outreach. Nothing in the world should remain untouched by the church through her members. Some people tend to think that religious people have nothing to offer to the world. I would like to quote an old battle-worn general, the late Douglas MacArthur,

"Men since the beginning of time have tried to find peace. Various methods through the ages have been attempting to device an international process to prevent disputes between nations; Military alliances, balances of power, League of Nations. All in vain have failed, leaving the only path to be by way of the crucible of war. The utter destructiveness of war now blots out this alternative. We have had our last chance... The problem is basically theological and involves a spiritual recrudescence and improvement of the human character that will synchronize with our almost matchless development of the past 2000 years. It must be of the spirit if we are to save the flesh".

The church has a mission of peace to the world. In this and so many other ways, the church must be a "light to the nations". We must never sell ourselves short. We have the light and wisdom and power of the Spirit of God. Our baptism committed us to this. Let by God's Spirit and strengthened by prayer, we above all, the people of God, are the ones who should offer ourselves in the twofold mission of service to the church and service to all the people of the world. We must act as Paul describes us, "we have been consecrated in Christ Jesus and called to be holy people" (1 Cor. 1:2).

EVERETT JAMES MCCAUGHEN

Funeral for Everett James McCaughen, 350 Main Street, Foxboro, was held last Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. in the chapel of the Hogle Funeral Home, Stirling.

Rev. Abel Parsons of Foxboro officiated, with entombment to follow in Stirling Cemetery Vault.

Foxboro L.O.L. 3, of which Mr. McCaughen was a member for 56 years, held a memorial service Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the chapel.

He left CN in 1958 after 37 years with the railway, retiring as section foreman at Ancan and Napanee. He was educated in Ridge Road Public School, RR 1, Stirling, and moved to Foxboro 12 years ago. Mr. McCaughen was formerly a member of Eureka Masonic Lodge in Belleville. Besides his wife, the former Margaret Ellen Walker, he is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Ross (Eliza) Sweet and Mrs. Jack (Bernice) Moore, both of Belleville, and Mrs. George (Pearl) Thomas of Caniffon, and a son, Kenneth, of Foxboro. Daisies do tell...

Sometimes plant life provides the evidence in uncovering air pollution.

But it takes an experienced detective squad to follow the clues.

A complaint came in to the Department of the Environment's Air Management Branch that trees, shrubs and hedges in an Ontario community showed leaf damage -- always on their south-west sides.

There were two suspects, an aluminum chloride manufacturer about a mile to the west and a nickel refinery about a mile southwest. But there was little sign of injury to any leaves between the damage area and either of the two industries.

The Department's Phytotoxicology Section -- the plant squad -- was sent out to get the mute testimony of soil and vegetation analysis. Sulphur and fluoride contents were normal, chloride, aluminum and copper levels were up slightly, but nickel showed up in soil and plants in poisonous quantities.

The nickel refinery was the only industry with this emission, the direction -- southwest -- was consistent, and the evidence was complete.

In another case, the plant squad checked a damaged property surrounded by seven industries, and with wind data, chemical analysis, and knowledge of plant symptoms traced the damage to sulphur dioxide from a sulphite pulp and paper mill.

There are times, quite often, when the evidence clears an industry unjustly accused.

In Scarborough, a stand of Lombardy poplars was dying and suspicious eyes were being cast on a neighboring manufacturer of liquefied gases.

But the investigation showed almost immediately that the trees were not poisoned, but died a natural death -- from the disease Dothichiza canker.

Where a specific polluter can be blamed, the complaint and the evidence provide grounds for action by the Air Management Branch. When neglect of disease caused the damage, the complainant is given advice or referred to an agency that can help. And the Phytotoxicology Section moves on to other clues, other cases.

Elementary...? No, phytotoxicology, my dear Watson.

Brethour, Lunn NDP candidates

For the first time ever, the New Democratic Party has candidates to run in the federal ridings of Hastings and Prince Edward.

A nomination meeting at the Kiwanis Centre in Belleville last week picked Elridge Brethour, 40, to compete in Hastings, and Richard Lunn, 45, to run in Prince Edward-Hastings in the pending federal election. Mr. Brethour's father having been a CCF candidate in 1959 and a Mr. Lunn a contestant in the Oct. 21 provincial election. Their early start on the campaign trail should give them time to make their faces and issues known to voters, according to NDP chairman Ian Reilly. The party organizer had been expected to contest Mr. Lunn for the Prince Edward-Hastings nomination but withdrew at the last minute because of work commitments.

Mr. Brethour called for the support of all NDPers in accepting the onerous task of trying to upset Conservative MP Leo Grillo. Mr. Brethour, a Bancroft fuel oil distributor whose background includes a stint as a farmers' union steward, said he would promote Canadianization of industry if elected. He was nominated by his father, Fred, a defeated CCF candidate in Hastings West 13 years ago.

Mr. Lunn, a resident of Hillier township, teaches journalism at Ryerson Polytechnical Institute and has written two English texts and with his wife, a history of Prince Edward County. He finished a distant third behind PC Clarke Rollins and Liberal Rev. Ian Munro in Hastings riding during the recent provincial election. Only a token candidate at that time, he promises to make the coming election a full time effort.

Mr. Lunn, conceding the difficulty of the chore facing him, said it was "possible, but not probable" he would win. "I'm not as pretty as George Hees (Conservative MP) or as well known as George Cunningham (Liberal candidate), but I can come close," he said.

Both men will have their own campaign agents although Ian Reilly, as chairman, will supervise funding and appearances.

PLAY HELD AT CENTENNIAL HIGH SCHOOL

Available Jones (left), played by Ken Couch, watches as Abner, Ron Hall, receives a few suggestions from Pappy

Yokum, played by Stanley Meeks, as how he could catch Daisy Mae in the play 'Li'l Abner' which was staged last week at Centennial Secondary School. Daisy Mae was played by Linda Walker of Stirling. Photo by Thom Reynolds

Students stage Li'l Abner

Students of Centennial Secondary School are resting now after the busy week they had while presenting the play, 'Li'l Abner'. Seventy-eight students performed in the two-act comedy-musical that was written by Norman Panama and Melvin Frank and based on the characters of Al Capp. Two hundred students were required to produce the show.

The dialogue and musical portions of the play were divided quite evenly. The music for the play was presented by the school's Pit Band, directed by Monty Emmerson. Kathy Sharpe is the only member in the band from Stirling.

The play, which ran for four nights, was centred around the government decision that Dogpatch and that the backward town would have to be evacuated. This news was a joy to the Dogpatchers as their town would now become world famous.

It is the little old hillbilly woman with the pigeon toes and pipe, Mammy Yokum, played by Merebeth Rowe, that realizes the move is not a good one for the Dogpatchers. To stop the move the Dogpatchers strive desperately to find something necessary about their town in order to preserve it and their unique life style.

While everyone is finding something necessary, Daisy Mae, played by Linda Walker, is busy trying to persuade Abner Yokum to catch her in the Sadie Hawkins Day Race so they can get married.

Abner was played by Ron Hall. Many students from Stirling had parts in the play or were involved in its production. Performers from Stirling included Ken Couch, Rick Farrell, Kim Hum, Brian Kleinstuber, Charles Loucks, Stanley Meeks, Heather Robinson, Linda Walker, John Williams, Elaine Williams, Philip LaChapelle and Sandra LaChapelle.

Helping on the production staff were Kim Hum, stage manager's assistant; Grant Dunham, technical director; John Mouck, sound technician; Frank Hubble and Fred Smith, stage crew members; Karen Lawes, Heather Robinson, Brenda Scott and Jill West, make-up; and Kathy White, usherette.

HASTINGS WEST

41 ANNIVERSARY

Lang Syne, My Wild Irish Rose,

The Maple Leaf Forever and

This Land is my Land.

Mrs. Roy Tucker proposed a toast to the Queen and all her responded by singing the Royal Anthem.

Mrs. Edison Sine proposed a toast to the founders, Mrs. Adelaide Hoodless and Eiland Lee.

The idea in 1897 was practical, forthright and a brave venture

for without vision the people perish. Through the combined efforts of these two people, early pioneers, the growth of the organization has flourished with districts, provincial, national and world wide organizations.

The main program followed with all singing the Institute Ode.

Mrs. Roy Bush gave a brief history of the River Valley branch which was organized in 1910.

She demonstrated the vast contrast between rural and urban living as at the turn of the century there was no running water or taps, no central heating in homes and schools. There were no cars, television, radios, electric lights, rural mail delivery,

no highways like we have today and, of course, no school buses.

The time was ripe for a institute organization to help the rural woman and the motto, "Home and Country" was very worthwhile.

River Valley WI has been on the map for 62 years. The fee was 25¢ a year until about 1950

and now it is set by the provincial office at $1.00 yearly.

At the close of the first year

there were 23 members at River

Valley and a balance of a little over $9.00. For this year the membership is 39.

Four years after organization

along came World War I and many items of Red Cross and other war projects were completed. A few years later World War II brought other duties.

She said during the years we have carried out the various convenorship departments. We have had a friendship link with a branch institute in England

since 1945; an A.C.W.W. convenor who looks after our penions for friendship; and 4-H clubs have assisted the young girls

at the various extension courses and have been educational.

Mrs. Bush gave a detailed account of the various assistance given to the school and the com-branch.

They were organized in 1961

by Mrs. Percy MacMullen who was the district president at that time.

There were 61 charter members and today 23 are still active.

16 have moved away and two are deceased.

They have three 4-H Clubs.

They feature auction sales, bake sales, family picnics and they assist Hastings Manor auxiliary.

Two little girls, Alida and

Arlene DeBoer, contributed two songs.

Grenville Sine gave the highlights of the Unidale branch. This paper was prepared by Mrs. Morley Sine. Early in 1920 several women attended

Walbridge W.J. Then they organized their own branch in 1928

with Mrs. Walter Grass in charge and Miss Edna Ketcheson as president.

The branch sent boxes overseas, gave donations for various projects, catered for the Junior

Farmers Field Day, sponsored

4-H Clubs and short courses and sponsored a child. They have served meals at Belleville Fair and now they have Scotts Unidale

Community Centre.

Mrs. David Little and a group of five members gave the history of the Chatterton branch in dialogue form, using the title, "Getting ready for an Institute Mem-bering."

Chatterton was organized in 1905 and they have assisted with

Adventures in citizenship

Perhaps more than any other organization, the development of the Scout movement was a spontaneous thing. Typical of the methods in which is spread was the experience of an American business man who happened to be in England not long after B-P's idea had really taken possession of the imagination of the young boys. The simple Scout motto of

"Do a good turn every day" was the method used. The man was either assisted across a busy road or given directions in a polite enough manner, that it arrested his attention. From his questioning of the lad he realized something was developing that was worthwhile. Before leaving for home, he made it a point to learn more about this new group, and in 1910, The Boy Scouts of America was formed.

Since that incident 62 years ago, Scouting and its affiliates have spread to every country around the world. It still exists to a degree in Communist lands, but naturally in an underground situation.

Briefly explained, the movement consists of Wolf Cubs and Brownies for boys and girls from 8-11; Boy Scouts 12-15 and Girl Guides, 12-18; Ventures for boys 15-17, Rovers for boys 17-23; and Rangers for girls beyond the Guiding age. All of these developments did not come overnight. Perhaps most noteworthy to explain is the Guide work, as it parallels the Scouts, and other divisions in both sections developed naturally.

The first experience with Guides came when a group of girls showed up at a Scout function dressed in a sort of uniform, and wanted to have an association of their own. Baden-Powell was quick to realize such a move must be made, but really did not know where to turn for leadership. Into the breach stepped his wife, Olave, and she still holds the post of Chief Guide.

Robert and Olave met on a sea voyage, and were married on arriving home. She was some 25 or more years younger than he, but their life together was extremely happy until his death in Kenya in 1941. She kept on working for the movement and although now nearing 90 is still more active than most women half her age.

Olave Baden-Powell took the Girl Guides to heart and did everything for them Robert had done for Scouts. The two movements are basically identical in philosophy and organization and each tries to develop the best possible young man or woman, equipped to meet life and its problems.

As an exercise in citizenship on a world scale, nothing boggles the imagination like a Scout Jamboree. The first of these was held in London, England in 1921, when Scouting was 13 years old. Since then they were held every four years until 1937, and after stopping for World War II resumed in 1947. All were held in Europe until 1955 when the Canadian Scouts played host to the first non-European Jamboree. Since then they have been held in the far east and with the development of air travel, more boys have seen more country than ever before.

In 1957, 32,000 members of the movement from some 82 countries converged on Sutton Coldfield, near Birmingham, England, to celebrate 50 years of Scouting, and the 100th anniversary of B-P's birth.

But what is a Jamboree? Regardless of the size, it is the coming together of boys with the same ideals, training and goals, regardless of language, creed, or skin color. As one who spent time at both Niagara and Sutton, I know there is nothing more educational or stimulating. I recall the evening before we left Sutton for home, another English-speaking chap and I spent nearly an hour with a Belgian Scout who could not talk English any better than we could French, but we still were able to communicate.

The big thing about Jamborees is swapping. Most Scouts come home with anything but the uniform they started with, as many items are handy for trading. Badges are taken from home in large quantities for this purpose, as are native items not too weighty for travelling. My most precious souvenir of England is a book of signatures, in which I think I have the name of a Scout from at least 75, if not more, countries around the world. I also have a campfire robe made of neckchiefs collected from troops to which I belonged and which I traded for when the opportunity arose.

Many may wonder at such a lengthy comment on one group, in two parts, yet, but I find to feel, as mentioned last week this is the Scouting movement offers more than anything outside of church or Sunday School. Having seen first-hand personal experience when this program can and has done, I hope today's boys and girls will avail themselves of its opportunities.

Young Adult League Bowling

This week the Scrans took 5 points which now gives them a total of 85. The Feds took 2 points giving them a total of 79; the Peysots Kids took 7 points for a total of 68; and the Heads didn't take any points but have a total of 40. Girl's high single and triple went to Nancy Kirkham with totals of 182 and 463. Shirleyann Milligan holds high average of 167. Boy's high single was bowled by Bill Mitchell with 270. High triple and average are held by Tim Beith with 613 and 205. Other good games were bowled by Bob West 213; Gary Armstrong 202; Kim Hum 220; Bert Simpson 246; Tim Beith 219, 209; Wayne Mayell 227; Dan Beith 224 and Steve Gliddon 224.

Stirling 4-H holds meeting

The first meeting of the spring project "Sportswear from Knits" of the Stirling 4-H Club was held on Wednesday, Feb. 16 at 7:00 p.m. in the Stirling Senior School. New members were welcomed. The leaders outlined what the project would be dealing with and gave the requirements of each club member.

The girls decided to call themselves the "Stirling Knit Knacks." They will have an opportunity to try new sewing methods and ideas as they will be each making a garment for sportswear using knit fabrics. Knits are ideal for sportswear because they resist wrinkles, are naturally stretchy, easy to care for and comfortable to wear.
